Bloomington Says "No" To Sewers

The Garrett County Sanitary Commission was told emphatically last Tuesday that the town of Bloomington and surrounding area citizens do not want a sewerage system in-

The citizens made known their feelings during an hour and a half meeting July 19, the third and final public hearing required on the proposed system. The majority said that they feel they cannot afford costs of the system, and the group presented a petition with over 100 names opposing the project.

A representative of Cerrone & Vaughn, consulting engineers, went over the firm's revised proposal, which calls for a gravity system and an extended aeration treatment plant located along the Potomac River, probably in an area which would have to be purchased from Westvaco

The consulting firm now is recommending that only the town of Bloomington be sewered and Route 135 residents west of town be excluded. This was in total harmony with the feelings of a large delegation from that area who appeared last Tuesday to protect their inhave been protesting their inclusion in a sewer system since

The official record will remain open for ten days until July 29, to accept additional written comments concerning the proposal.

According to Wendell Beitzel, sanitary district administrator, the citizens, any of whom are retired people on fixed incomes. base their opposition on the monthly user charge. According to the consulting firm, average monthly fee for a family of four would be $13.60. Some based their protests against the system on the possibility of further economic slowdowns and the possibility of closing the Bloomington School at some future time.

Beitzel said that the Sanitary Commission now faces the dilemma of whether to abandon the project. Right now, he says, the system apparently stands an excellent chance of receiving funding from the Environmental Protection Agency, some 1,350 customers in this the costs. The victim, Michael Sisler, 18, Oakland, was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital after he alerted a resident on Rt. 219, near the scene of the shooting, that he was injured, and needed immediate medical attention. Police found Sisler slumped on the front steps of the private home, at which time he said he had been shot, and identified his assailant.

Garrett County now has the dubious distinction of being the only place in Maryland where a bald eagle has been shot and killed, according to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Killed In County

That organization is investigating the death of an immature male bald eagle near Tasker's Corners, about one mile from the Combination Road. The carcass was found on the morning of May 31 on a reclaimed strip mine site by Phil Ferguson, who was checking on the reseeding of the mine.

The bird did not display adult plumage as yet and lacked the distinctive white head. Bald eagles do not mate before they are four to five years of age, although they are physically full grown at one year.

According to Richard T. Marks, special agent for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, necropsy report by the National Wildlife health lab in Madison, Wisc. showed that the eagle had definitely been killed by a gunshot. Homeowners will have the option of having the sewage contractor do the work or hiring someone of their own choice. The town is also considering borrowing additional money from the state, above the 1212 percent local share of costs, so that the town can assist those who are unable to afford the cost of the work. Homeowners could then be billed in addition to their annual sewer rate and could repay the loan over a period of several years.

The town officials have sent in an application for Farmers Home Administration funds to pay the additional $150,000 costs but no word has been received on whether the application has been accepted.

To Discuss Local Economic Conditions

State Senator John N. Bambacus (R-Allegany, Garrett) has set up a meeting with Maryland Governor Harry R. Hughes on Wednesday, July 27, in Annapolis to discuss leasing young eagles for several economic conditions in western years.

Arrangements for the meeting were made following the recent announcement by Kelly-Springfield Tire Company that an additional 534 workers would be furloughed in August. Bambacus and Hughes are expected to explore any efforts that the state of Maryland might make to offer relief to the local economy.

"At a time when the national economy shows signs of recovery, we still bear the unacceptable burden of high unemployment," Bambacus said in a statement issued by his office. "I have been in contact with officials at Kelly-Springfield as well as other labor, industry, and community leaders. It's time to put all our resources together." he continued.

"The potential for recovery is here, too. We have a good workforce, a new training program in place at Allegany Community College, a new Department of Employment and Training at the State level. We must find the right answers to-

Sometimes it requires a visit to a third world nation to understand how fortunate it is to be a citizen of the United States. After making such a visit and examining certain statistics, one has to wonder if the United States is taking far more than

There are presently about 4.5 billion people in the world. If this total population were condensed into a community of 1,000 persons on the basis of comparative present populations of each country, 61 of the 1,000 individuals would represent United States citizenry and the rest of the world would be represented by the remaining 939.

These 61 Americans would receive half of the total income in the entire community and would have an average life expectancy of 70 years, compared to an average of under 40 years for the remainder.

The Americans would own one and one-half times as many goods as the rest and would produce 16 percent of the town's total food supply. However, they would consume all but 1.5 percent of what they raised. They would also use 12 times as much of the total electric power supply as the non-Americans, 22 times as much coal, 21 times as much oil and gasoline, and 50 times as much steel and general equipment as the other 939. Over one third of the total population would be living under Communist

Every person born in the world today has only about a one in twenty chance of being born in the United States.

A Little Of Both

by Carol Fox

Occasionally, this column is used as a sounding board for ideas, suggestions, complaints, and the like, or to call special attention to less than ordinary things.

When I was a child, we used to play a game called "Pleased and Displeased." The leader and players would make a statement, perform an act, sing, dance, or whatever, and randomly stop to ask one player if he was pleased, or displeased, and why. If we were playing the game today, it might go something like this.

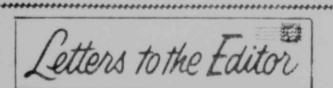

Locally, a tiny landmark that's been a part of the Oakland scene since I moved to the county seven years ago has disappeared. The small but tasteful blue sign, formerly located on the corner of Third Street and Memorial Drive which led strangers to Cornish Manor Restaurant for fine food and a relaxing atmosphere, has, all of a sudden, vanished. Those of us fortunate enough to know the dining room don't really need the sign, but tourists and visitors to the town who aren't aware of its existence won't find it as easily. Verdict: Displeased.

On another note, Saturday is just around the corner and so is Friendsville Summer Festival III. Parades, food, games, entertainment, contests, music . . . you name it, you'll find it at the elementary school grounds beginning at 12 noon. Maxine Combs and Lucile Sines have done it again in the coordination department. The other members of that dynamo ladies' group, the Friendsville Town and Community Women, have been working their collective heads off, and will be manning the booths. marshaling the grounds, lining up the entertainment, etc., etc. The day-long event will attract many former residents and family members who lived here as children . . . somewhat like a giant family reunion. For genuine, down-to-earth fun, make your way to Friendsville a little before noon on Saturday, and come prepared for a fun-filled day. Verdict: Pleased.

In a separate thought, even though I don't often make the trip, I enjoy visiting Kingwood, W. Va., occasionally for shopping, or for dining at the lovely Kingwood Inn. During the trip from Oakland, traveling west on Rt. 39, you pass a beautiful little park on the right hand side of the road, near the turn off to Alpine Lake. It's a quiet little place for a picnic, or just to relax for whatever reason. I've noticed recently that a Closed sign is posted, and the tables that once held families and the grounds upon which little ones played are now vacant, and lonely looking. Verdict: Sadly Displeased.

We understand the new Garrett County Dog Ordinance goes into effect August 1, making pet owners liable for their stray, unlicensed dogs, and eligible for fines ranging from $10 to $200, depending on the circumstance. That will surely help eliminate the problem of roaming dogs in the county which disrupt, destroy, and make a general nuisance of themselves. Verdict: Pleased. Game's over for now. Perhaps we'll get together for a rematch later on.

To the Editor:

I think it is time for the taxpayers of Garrett County to open their eyes and look around to see what is happening with our money.

The grass has not been mowed along the roads, the ditches have not been opened. and the dirt roads have not been graded. In fact, all I can see that is being done is fixing private driveways or roads that no one lives on or travels.

I think it is time everyone sticks together and gets something done.

Thank you. Helen Michaels Friendsville

County's Dog Law To Take Effect Aug. 1

The Garrett County Dog Ordinance, to go into effect August 1, could mean fines of between $50 to $200 to violators.

The ordinance not only requires licensing of dogs, pet shops and kennels, but also covers confinement and impoundment of dogs who are at large or a public nuisance, fees for licenses and penalties for dog impoundment and ordinance violators.

The ordinance prohibits dog owners to allow their pet to go off their premises unless under restraint, accompanied by the owner or trainer or being used or trained for hunting and being followed by a person on foot, horseback or in vehicles.

Too big a byte to swallow

by Harry Fox

It's the electronic revolution of the eighties . . . more popular than the hula hoop, more profitable than the Beatles, and more pervasive than ants at a picnic.

It all started when some physicists and engineers discovered that the microscopic labyrinths of tiny silicon slivers could be fashioned into immensely crowded arrays of electrical circuits. The "chip" has spawned every sort of gadget, including watches, calculators, and, accompanied by a dazzling display of marketing, the desktop, personal computer. Smaller than a portable typewriter, the keyboards that attach to TVs are cropping up everywhere. Welcome to the world of personal computing.

It is a highly competitive, volatile industry, in which fortunes have been made or lost on one month's sales figures. Magazines and journals, from the child's level to the highly technical, have blossomed on bookstore shelves. The last issue of "Byte," named for a unit of the binary numbers used in a computer, rivaled a metropolitan telephone book in thickness-most of that being page after page of full-color advertising.

With all the brands and systems fighting for the customer's dollar, entry into the world of personal computing can be unnerving, and rather expensive, when wrong choices are made. And prospective buyers will discover that beyond the (often quite modest) purchase of the basic unit is a future of more expensive

"hardware," including printers, monitors, expansion modules-all different, depending on the choice of system. (As this writer learned, the hard way, an initially inexpensive unit can require costly devices to expand. A somewhat larger purchase figure can yield a more complete system that needs fewer accessories.)

The social implications of the information revolution are yet to be fully realized. In the ranks of new devotees are technicians, the wizards, and high priests of the craft-lost in the esoterics of machine language-and the novitiate, like this writer, struggling with poorly written manuals and slow-to-adapt minds. There are the mystics, deriving hours of silent, solitary pleasure from complex games of mental gymnastics, prompted by cues from the computer. Our Jeff disappeared into his room the other day, announcing that the game he was playing took "30-40 hours."

His mother, long used to his unconventional ramblings, only shrugged her shoulders and said-"Well, he'll have to come out to get his high school diploma.

Beitzel said he is unsure what the sanitary commission will decide about the project until the topic can be discussed at the next meeting. He personally feels that the commission will "complete the facility plan and let it go at that."

However, another option would be to prepare a fact sheet and survey form to be mailed to potential users in Bloomington to ask how all the residents feel about the system. This would give those who did not attend the meeting the opportunity to register their approval or disapproval.

The county commissioners have advanced the sanitary commission some $2,000 to complete the facility plan, with the county to have been repaid when the system was constructed. If the system is not share of the facility's entire completed, the $2,000 will of course not be repaid. A need for some type of sewer system was documented by the Garrett County Health Department back in 1979, when the department found that "A very unhealthy condition exists in the town especially above Route 135 where practically all the sewage from the portion of town is draining into an open ditch along the railroad. An alternative method of sewage disposal needs to be developed for the town."

Sheriff, Deputies Get Inoculations Against Rabies

Garrett County Sheriff Franklin G. Finch and all 12 deputies have now completed a series of three inoculations against rabies through the Garrett County Health Department. The three shots were given during the past month, at a cost of $27 per man. The inoculations were necessary as the deputies and sheriffs are required by state law to assist the health department in investigating possible rabies cases. They are also often requested to kill possible rabid animals and turn them over to the health department to be sent away for laboratory examination.

Garrett County Circuit Court civil docket records revealed this week that several lawsuits in excess of $10,000 have been filed by or against county resi-

The most current cases involve a $250,000 lawsuit filed by Theodore Hebb of Mt. Lake Park against Don Nine, owner and operator of the Highview Park Apartments. According to the files, Hebb Taylor Descendants was a tenant in the housing unit during August of 1982 when he claims he was injured in the parking area of the building when a vehicle he was standing near was struck by a bulldozer being used at the time for unnamed work. The complainant Park is seeking compensation for pain and injury, plus court costs. Decisions in the case are incomplete at this time.

In a separate case, a former employee of the Professional Resources Organization, Inc., of Friendsville, is suing through the president of the firm, William F. Robinson, to recover $20,782.68 in back pay for time and services.

Richard Johnson, represented by Oakland attorney Ralph Burnett, claims he was not paid for three months work from January to May of 1982, and from December of 1982 until March of 1983. He has requested and filed a petition for attachment of all equipment, works of art, vehicles, etc., when he learned the business was about to be sold. Final decision on the case is pending.

In a third case, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has filed suit in the amount of $15,040 plus tronic organ.

The Hoyes United Methodist Church will observe its 128th anniversary Sunday, July 31, with an all-day celebration, covered dish dinner and a 2 o'clock service by Rev. Robert VanGilder, former pastor.

Sunday school will be at 10 a.m. and the morning worship will be at 11, followed by a covered dish dinner at 12:30 p.m. A time of fellowship will follow, until the Brotherhood friends of the congregation to Sunday sing at 7:30 p.m.

Church History In 1855, John DeWitt, Jr.,

deeded to William Casteel, Truman West, John Wagner, Jonathan Friend and Nathan Casteel Lot. No. 2 in what was then known as Johnstown (now Hoyes) to build a house of worship. A log church was erected under the auspices of the Methodist Episcopal Church. That log structure was replaced with a "little white church" in 1877, according to a church history prepared by Helen Sollars Friend, but church services were not held every Sunday as a preacher was not always available

In 1893 the church purchased its 150-pound copper and tin bell and built a "neat, strong belfrey" in the church. The belfrey now at the front of the building was constructed between 1906 and 1909.

Although lightning is not supposed to strike twice, the Hoyes church proved the exception. The building was damaged by lightning twice, in 1914 and 1934.

The Youth Fellowship began as the Epworth League in 1893 and the name was changed in 1941 to Youth Fellowship.

The Ladies Aid was organized in 1936 and in September of 1940, that organization was supplanted by the Women's Society of Christian Service. The Men's Brotherhood was started in 1942.

Stained glass windows were installed in 1948 at a cost of $90 each, purchased from the Art Glass Company, Cresap Park, Cumberland.

In 1954 a basement was dug and a new foundation erected, then the church was moved approximately 50 feet from its original site to the new foundation.

What do you mean — Gospel?

The Gospel is the story of what has happened, what is happening and will yet happen with Jesus. The Kingdom is here. He preached "The Kingdom," the day when all the longing God puts in us will be fulfilled. He preached with such faithfulness as to invest his own life in his hope for us. He proved his commitment by incurring death. And God carried him past death so that nothing can now hinder his love for us, so that his promise and devotion must surely triumph. We Christians are in this world to tell

Mt. Lake Park Author Acclaimed For Third Novel In "Detective Jury" Suspense Series

by Carol Canan

Success continues to stalk Mt. Lake Park author Martha Grimes the way her detective character stalks murderers in England, according to the "hue and cry" raised over her recently-published novel in the Richard Jury series, "The Anodyne Necklace."

In this third book, the unflappable Inspector Jury of Scotland Yard has become Superintendent Jury and is called to Littlebourne to solve the grisly murder of a young woman in a bird watchers' boggy wood. As usual he is assisted by the catarrhic Sgt. Wiggins and the unprofessional former peer Melrose Plant. Action moves to London and back to the village and incorporates all types of characters, from snobbish gentry to slovenly (and worse) East End kids.

"The Anodyne Necklace," published by Little, Brown and Company, is available along with her other two books at The Book Mark'et in Oakland, and at the Ruth Enlow Library. Ms. Grimes will be available to meet her readers and autograph her books at The Book Mark'et on Saturday, July 30, from 11 to 2.

Miss Kalember loves her role in 'Loving'

By Kimberly Redmond One of the brightest new stars of "Loving" is Schenectady, N.Y -born actress Patricia Kalember, who portrays TV anchorwoman Merrill Miss Kalember had already been accepted at Vanderbilt University to prepare for a career as a lawyer when she took another look at what she wanted to do with her life. "I realized I really wanted to be an actress," she says, "It was a traumatic decision at the time." So she enrolled in the drama department at Indiana University where she earned a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree before doing her graduate work at Temple University. Roles in summer stock and regional theater led to parts in off-Broadway shows and eventually to an audition for the pivotal role of Merrill, her first major television part.

Miss Kalember came to New York with her husband. actor Mark Torres (who appeared on Broadway in Amadeus"). The couple met when they were students at in Indiana. She grew up in Louisville, Ky., and is the first member of her family to enter show business.

Beginning August 1, C&P customers in the Oakland area who wish to discuss telephone service or billing matters with the company will have new telephone numbers to call.

C&P is consolidating all business office operations for Western Maryland in Hagerstown so the Oakland business office at 200 E. Alder Street will close later this month. According to Leroy Fisher, C&P Community Relations Manager for Allegany and Garrett counties, consolidations of the local office "will help the company hold down operating costs, and ultimately, customers' telephone bills.

The company is splitting its business office functions into two segments: one to handle telephone service inquiries and the other to deal with billing inquiries. Service representatives will specialize in either service or billing matters Fisher said.

The number for Oakland area customers to call for changes or additions to existing telephone service is 1-797-2200 and for billing inquiries, 1-797-2310. Calls to both numbers are toll-free. There is no change in the number customers presently call for repair service.

With the closing of the Oakland business office, C&P has pineapple, pineapple juice, contracted with Crabtree Photography, Rt. 219, Oakland, ****** to act as a service agency for

New Tax Forms Will Save Money

More than 57,000 businesses responsible for collecting Maryland Retail Sales and Use Taxes are being converted to a new type of reporting system which State Comptroller Louis Goldstein says will "make life easier" for vendors and save taxpayers "tens of thousands of dollars a year."

"Most Maryland retail businesses received a new coupon book type of sales tax reporting form which will be used for reporting sales and use tax revenue to our office," Goldstein said. "The booklet contains an entire year's worth of sales tax forms, plus additional information, and replaces the monthly or quarterly reports businesses received in the past."

The Comptroller noted that the new tax reporting system will not only be more convenient for businesses, but will also save Maryland tax-payers about $50,000 per year in postage and processing costs. He said reaction to the new reporting system has been generally favorable since businesses began receiving the booklets the week of July 18, 1983

"It's important for businesses to remember to keep the coupon books for the entire year, since they will no longer receive individual reports on a monthly or quarterly basis." Goldstein said. "It's also important to use the proper report form since each one is dated for the appropriate reporting period."

Those chain type businesses which file computerized consolidated reports and taxpayers filing on a seasonal, annual or semi-annual basis will continue to receive individual reports.

to receive individual reports.

"If you are required to file a Sales and Use Tax return for July and do not receive either a new coupon book or an individual July, 1983 report by August, 12, 1983, you should contact the Taxpayer Service Selection of the Retail Sales Tax Division at (301) 383-3800 without delay." Goldstein stated.

CONTRIBUTIONS GROW - Robert Bray, left, receives a $280 check from Jim Cuppett, exalter ruler for the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks, Oakland Lodge No. 2481, as a contribution to Kristina's Fund. Over $2,000 has been received for the fund to be used to help a 10-month-old baby who is susceptible to sudden infant death syndrome. The money, primarily donated by church groups throughout the county, will be used to pay for monthly rental of a S.I.D.S. monitor which is $280 the first month and $100 each succeeding month and for 48 hours of testing, estimated to be at least $3,000. Bray began the fund-raising campaign in April and has placed canisters in many area businesses.

Hosts, Hostesses

Needed At Fair

According to Jane G. Rentschler, Garrett County Extension agent, volunteers are "an essential part" of the Garrett County Fair each year, and, one area in which volunteers are still needed for hostessing. The hosts and hostesses perform the following duties for two hour time periods: patrol the Home Arts building, keep an eve on exhibits, and remind visitors not to touch the exhibits; show fair visitors things they are interested in seeing:

Reunion

Sun., Aug. 7 Grantsville Community Park and talk to fair visitors, note suggestions and give them to department superintendents or leave them at the fair office.

Besides giving the host/hostess a chance to help out at this county event, Mrs. Rentschler said it also offers an opportunity to visit with fellow residents and summer visitors.

Persons interested in serving the 1983 fair is in hosting and in this capacity at the fair, are asked to call 334-2145 or 895-3124 (Monday through Friday) as soon as possible.

Council Postpones Mt. Lions Club Hearing On Park

Zoning Proposal A meeting to discuss a recommendation by the Mt. Lake Park Planning Commission to amend the town's zoning ordinance to allow automobile self service stations along Route 135 cilities would become staffed has been postponed until this Thursday evening, July 28, at 7 p.m. at the town hall. Approximately 40 persons turned out for the hearing July 21, but the severe thunderstorm caused the power to be interupted, and the meeting concerning C.P. Martin owner Tom Ritchey's proposal to add a service station along Route 135 had to be postponed.

A hearing on an application by Thomas K. Vance to replace a mobile home at the corner of Pittsburgh Avenue and Deer Park Avenue was granted by the Board of Zoning Appeals before the power outage.

by Ron Dolan, local vocalist and Crop Production

Down From 1982 Field crop production in Maryland will generally be down from 1982.

The July Crop Report, released by the Maryland Crop Reporting Service, indicates a smaller harvest of oats, barley, winter wheat, rye and apples. The forecast for the potato crop is unchanged from 1982 and the production of peaches is expected to be greater than last year. Most of the drop can be attributed to fewer acres, but, in addition, yields are expected to average below the previous year. If expectations are realized, farmers in the state will harvest 5,040,000 bushels of wheat, down 18 percent from last year. The acreage of wheat for harvest dropped by 16,000 acres and the average yield is expected to be down three bushels per acre from 1982 to 42 bushels. Barley production is forecast at 5,162,000 bushels, a decline of 10 percent from last year. The acreage of barley is 89,000 compared with 97,000 in 1982. The

to 58 bushels an acre.

Oats production also is off significantly. A decline in the average yield from 58 to 56 bushels accounts for part of the decline but, in addition, 3,000 fewer acres will be harvested.

The output of rye is expected to be 252,000 bushels, down 38,000 bushels from last year. The output of potatoes is expected to be unchanged at 328,000 cwt. A large crop of peaches is anticipated at 22,000 cwt., but apples production is expected to county to county to reflect drop three million pounds to 77 million pounds.

Barley, Oats, Rye Loan Rates Set

Maryland loan rates for 1983 barley, oats, and rye have been a bushel for rye.

announced by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. The rates were increased by amounts equal to the recently announced national average loan rate increases, according to William B. Crum, chairman of the Maryland State Agricultural and Conservation Committee. The rates are: barley, $2.11 per bushel, oats, $1.51 per bushel; and rye, $2.38 per bushel.

"These rates vary from differences in the value of the crop, production trends, and for some commodities, transportation costs to terminal points," Crum said.

National average loan rates are $2.16 a bushel for barley, $1.36 a bushel for oats, and $2.25

BIBLE QUIZZERS from the local area competed in the Youth For Christ Eastern Region Bible Quiz Tournament in Ocean City, N.J., June 26 - July 1. The tournament, held in conjunction with the YFC Eastern Region Convention, involved ten teams from Pittsburgh, Detroit and Ann Arbor along with the local entry. The local team finished fourth overall and narrowly missed a chance to compete in the Champinship Quiz. The tournament was the culmination of the Church League season, from which the All-Star team was selected. In the photo, left to right, are Brad Frantz, coach; Marlin Beitzel, Springs, Pa.; Cheryl Crogan, Markleysburg, Pa.; Darrell Yoder, Bittinger; Autumn Frazee, Friendsville; Merlin Beitzel, Springs; and Diane Frantz, coach. Miss Frazee averaged 47.5 points per quiz and was named to the All-Tournament team. Teams are now being organized for the coming year and any church or individual wishing more information may contact Brad Frantz, 334-2033, or the Youth For Christ/Campus Life Office, 334-9244. Material for next year will come from the books of Romans and James

Deer Park Church To Present Film

"God's Prison Gang," a newly released film featuring Al Capone's getaway driver, the last member of Bonnie and Clyde's gang and two other notorious criminals who have become Christians will be shown at Church of God of Prophecy, located on Davis Street, Deer Park, on Sunday, July 31. The showing is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m.

The film shot behind the walls of New York's Attica prison, is hosted by Art Linkletter and tells the story of the work in International Prison Ministry.

44-minute film are George Meyer, Al Capone's favorite driver; Floyd Hamilton, (Public Enemy No. 1) the last of the Bonnie and Clyde Gang; Jerry Graham, the "robber king" of California; and Ted Jefferson, convicted of crimes from drugs and robbery to murder.

Also featured is "Chaplain Ray," whose Dallas-based International Prison Ministry has been in operation for 18 years. The Reverend William R. Foley, pastor of Church of God of Phophecy, invites the public to use free screening of the film.

GRANTSVILLE

Frederick A. Holliday has been elected by the Town Council of Grantsville to fill the vacancy of Mayor William Edwards, who has moved to Frostburg. Mayor Holliday will serve for the next two years until election in May of 1985. Since this leaves a vacant seat on the council, anyone interested in becoming a council member may contact Gloria Martin, clerk, or Mayor Holliday before the next meeting which has been set for Wednesday, August 3. at the town council room at 7

The Grantsville Firemen's Association will hold a carnival July 28-30, at the fire hall with a parade on Friday evening and the battle of the barrel. A bake sale will also be held on Friday. Anyone wishing to donate baked goods may call 895-5747.

Education Plan

A meeting set to clarify the state's view of the future for vocational-technical education in the county ended up with an endorsement by Dr. Addison Hobbs, assistant state superintendent of vocational education, of the plan adopted by the county board of education.

Jane Rentschler, chairperson of the county vocational advisory council, who attended the meeting on Friday reported that Dr. Hobbs said he would like to see a vocational-technical education center in the county, but such an option was not feasible.

The council requested the meeting which was attended by Dr. Hobbs and two other state education officials, county school superintendent Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, county supervisor for vocational education J. Kenneth Bittinger, and three members of the advisory

In June the county school board adopted a vo-tech plan utilizing existing schools which updates the current program, requires various pre-vocational courses, adds some new courses at both high schools, and calls for renovations to the building.

Hobbs apparently pledged to work to insure the space needed for good programs at both schools will be provided.

Bids for the Grantsville sewer line rehabilitation are to be opened this afternoon in the town headquarters at 4 o' clock, according to Wendell Keaton, municipal administrator.

The bid opening had originally been scheduled for July 18, but a delay in receipt of attachments for the specifications made a two-week delay necessary in order to comply with legal requirements.

The delays, which Keaton said were beyond town control, concerned wage rate determinations, highway permits, and an application for the health ated its intention to proceed department design review com-

El Lobo Seeks "Commercial"

A Mt. Lake Park man has petitioned the Mt. Lake Park planning commission for a zoning amendment which would change the designation of El Lobo along H street from "town residential" to "commercial." Owner Lawrence Wolfe presented his petition to county zoning administrator John Nelson last week, and Nelson has forwarded copies of the proposal to members of the planning commission, which includes Morgan France, chairman; Welton Lane, George

Evans and Bryan Thayer. Wolfe had earlier petitioned the town, and received a zoning change which would permit restaurant expansion along Route 135. He then appealed a decision by the town's zoning board which would allow the expansion only if he closed off access to his parking lot from G Street. No decision has been received in that case, and the point would become moot if Wolfe receives a zoning amendment change to "commercial."

Crazy, Costly Antics . . .

Legislation was introduced in the U.S. Senate yesterday to tighten controls on the federal food stamp program, which in our opinion need tightening. A study by the General Accounting Office revealed that over one billion dollars worth of food stamps are being issued fraudulently every year. Millions more are being wasted through mismanagement of the program.

Two weeks ago in this column we wrote of the Grace Commission, a group of business and labor executives which is now completing a 15-month study revealing ways the federal government could save over 340 billion dollars within the next three years, substantially reducing the deficit. Many of their suggestions are somewhat complicated, visible only to the eyes of the highly educated. However, there are also some expensive and absurd antics that the government pulls every day that even a child could detect. We stumbled upon a few of them this week and we wish to share them with our

•The National Endowment for the Humanities granted $2,500 through the state of Virginia to Arlington County to study why people are rude, cheat and lie on local tennis courts.

•The U. S. Postal Service spent over $3.4 million on a Madison Avenue advertising campaign to make Americans write more letters, then spent $775,000 to see if the campaign worked.

•The Federal Aviation Administration spent $57,800 on a study of the body measurements of airline stewardess trainees in order to properly design safety equipment.

 The Department of Air Force conducted a sixmonth, $3,000 test at the Pentagon to investigate whether the use of umbrellas by the male personnel in uniform was proper.

•The Federal Highway Administration spent $241,764 to produce a computerized system that gives local directions to people who can't or won't read maps.

•The Federal Highway Administration spent $222,000 to study "Motorists' Attitude Toward Large Trucks.

•The House of Representatives spent $1.3 million to automate 19 elevators while retaining operators to run them.

A few more equally ridiculous projects are noted in "Capital Facts," which appears on this page.

We sincerely hope those Virginia folks find out why people are rude, cheat and lie on the tennis court. Not only is that an issue about which we have lost sleep for months, but we would also hate to think that the $2,500 was wasted.

Is Anyone Home??

by Carol Fox

An interesting editorial appeared in the July 26 issue of the Preston County News concerning what's fast becoming a city wide, county wide, state and national wide scandal . . . the lack of care among citizens for the preservation of our communities.

It was amazing to see how squarely between the eyes Bob Teets struck the residents of the town of Terra Alta who don't care enough to support any revitalization the TA Chamber of Commerce attempts to undertake. The most repulsive part of this kind of ignorance is the loss of such vintage buildings as the Chessie train station mentioned in Teets' article. His assessment of a few hard workers in civic and church organizations is an accurate one. Too many persons simply have their names on the rolls of organizations because it feeds the ego to say "I belong." However, when there's a job to do, those same members have a host of excuses for why they can't possibly get involved. In the meantime, Terra Alta's station crumbles, the buildings sag, and the paint peels. Good point.

The very same thing is happening in my own town of Mt. Lake Park, one of the most beautiful groups of residences in Western Maryland, on the whole. Many of the homes are from the 1800s. and fortunately, some very caring and civic minded citizens have purchased many of the vintage homes and are in the process of restoring them to their original Victorian beauty. The sad thing about the neighborhood is that many of the deserted buildings such as the Braethorn, a multi-room boarding house, the Auditorium and Assembly Hall, the Deaconess Home, and numerous others, stand sentinel in decay. Already gone are the glorious hotels of Deer Park and Mt. Lake Park, the Columbia, the Overlook, Hamilton Hall, and more. Granted, time moves on and history can't always remain, but how sad to watch the decay of those beautiful examples of architecture. Worse than that, if proposed changes in the zoning laws of Mt. Lake Park are approved, what beauty and tranquility is left could be replaced with gasoline pumps, pavement, and neon lights. As a resident, I vehemently say no. Fortunately, a group of concerned citizens are joining hands to keep Mt. Lake Park a residential section, a part of the Maryland historical scene, as it should be. Good luck to the "Friends of Mt. Lake Park" in its endeavor.

On another note, it seems the Oakland mayor and town council are sitting on hands concerning the most reasonable answer to the town sewerage problems. What is all the confusion with the Sterling water processing plan, anyway? And worse than that, where are all the "concerned" Oakland city residents? Are you waiting to complain after an order has been ruled upon by the city fathers that you may or may not agree with? Don't you care enough about the future of your city to attend a council meeting and voice an opinion? Do you have one, even? Think about it, Oakland. Once the horse is gone, it's too late to close the barn

County Billboards Entice Businesses To Locate Here

Two billboards set up in July along Route 219 picturing a huge carrot entice businessmen who are passing through the county to establish their business in Garrett County. "Come for the carrots, Stay for the green," is the slogan on the advertisements.

The billboards are part of the county's promotion campaign, which began last year, to bring more businesses to the county and ties in with the statewide theme chosen several years ago which uses the carrot as a trademark.

Tom Jones, county development director, said the strategy chosen by the county develop- will also be able to offer the

Can't have one without the other

by Harry Fox

Quite often it's difficult to take an objective view of things when our own personal interests are involved.

Most of us discover in this life the realization that there are no simple answers to many of the difficult choices that need to be made every day. There's often a "gray" area where both sides of the question have merit.

For example, residents of Mt. Lake Park have recently become aware of the controversy surrounding a local merchant's application to install gasoline pumps outside his grocery store.

Many citizens of the Park are concerned about this business expansion, and the precedent it might set for future change. The subject has come up before. Each time, the question seems to divide along lines that tend to separate "preservationists" from those who see nothing wrong with a business person expanding his

I tend to resent this sort of division-I, for one, fall somewhere in the middle-because it tends to imply that I am somehow against the conservation of Mt. Lake Park's unique cultural and historical resources.

I do believe that commercial enterprise is an important part of our way of life-just as important as our heritage from the

Quite rightly, we ought not stand by as the gracious homes and buildings of the past fall into ruin-for such things can be prevented. The preservation of a people's cultural "roots" should have an important place in our priorities.

But it is simplistic to oppose change-for, what is more natural?—without regard for the other needs of a community.

Mt. Lake Park is not a museum piece-carefully preserved under glass. It is a real community of persons living in the last quarter of the twentieth century.

Somewhere in the middle of the two extremes is the real world. Among the things that make for a healthy economy-one that permits devoting time and resources to preservation—is the right to conduct business and make a profit.

You can't have one without the other. Careful decisions not withstanding, it is difficult to know what is fair to both priorities.

The campaign focuses on informing businessmen that the county is interested in economic expansion. The message is conveyed through the two billboards, ads in the county's Vacation Guide and through promotional brochures.

The overall strategy behind the campaign is to diversify the county's economy, explained Jones, so that it is not as dependent on mining, agriculture and timber. The types of businesses the development corporation has in mind are small, clean manufacturing companies, some recreation and commercial businesses.

In promoting the county, the development corporation tells businesses Garrett County has much to offer: inexpensive industrial site property, a readily trainable workforce which is characterized by low absenteeism and few labor problems, and attractive financing packages.

Tom Jones calls the financing packages "unsurpassed" saying that the county can offer equity investment financing. fixed asset financing and working capital financing as a complement to traditional forms of financing.

Nearly every year my parents sent me away to summer camp in the mountains. It wasn't cheap, but it was more affordable than psychiatric care. After about six years as a camper, I returned as an employee and finally worked my way down to a counselor position. It was either that or join the Foreign Legion-and the Legion didn't offer as much of a challenge.

Parents go absolutely glassy-eyed over summer camp brochures which promise to take Junior off their hands for most of the summer. Eventually Mom and Dad choose a faraway camp and Junior and his steamer trunk are sent to Lake Falling Arches. Once there, Junior begins a metamorphosis that would've startled Freud.

As a fairly respected and affluent camp which catered to rich kids, the camp where I worked asked parents to complete a personality profile on each youngster to help us cope with the kids' idiosyncracies. According to most parents, their child was being considered for the Nobel Prize.

The kids hailed from different lifestyles with a raft of allergies, braces on their teeth and various reasons for coming to camp. Most thought camp was fun because you could wear the same clothes for two weeks and you didn't have to brush your teeth. Therefore, each counselor's tribe of 12 kids came to be known by such nicknames as "The Dirty Dozen" and "Uncle Ben's Converted Lice."

As a counselor, I'd sprawl on my cot at night, bruised, beaten and bitten, and I'd contemplate the changes in Junior since he'd Here was a boy who could hike five miles nonstop, but at

Mixed Identities Highlight Play

Tonight Marc Camoletti's "Happy Birthday" opens at the Garrett County Playhouse on the stage at Garrett Community College, McHenry.

The play, adapted by Beverly Cross, is a frenzied farce littered with mistaken identities and darkened doors in which Bernard, played by David Cramer, makes his first mistake when he invites his mistress, Brigit, played by Mara Papasoff, to spend the weekend, hoping that Robert, Milburn Mehlhop, will pretend to be her lover so that Jacqueline, Brownell Adams won't find out.

To make matters worse, Joan Statkus appears on the scene as a temporary domestic whose name also happens to be Brigit.

Reservations for the play are available at Englander's, Gregg's or Proudfoot's pharmacies in Oakland. All seats are general admission, but reservations are advised. Curtain time is 8:30 each

Citizens Group Mt. Lake Park

A small group of Mt. Lake Performances on Thursday Park citizens met last Thursday evening at a local residence to organize what will be known as Friends of Mt. Lake Park. The purpose of the organization, according to a spokesman for the group, is basically two-fold: to make plans for future Mt. Lake Park Days events, the first of which was held last month; and to work on various town projects, particularly restoration and preservation of certain historic buildings and landmarks in the town.

The Mt. Lake Park Days celebration, which included historic talks, slide presentations, displays, a reception and tours of several Victorian homes in Mt. Lake Park, served as the "spring board" for the organizing of Friends of Mt.

W. Sincell, one of the organizers, because of the participation of over 500 persons in the event. "We realized Partnership Act that the enthusiasm and support is already there to begin working on some of these projects," Sincell said. "All that is needed is some organization and direction, which is what we hope Friends of Mt. Lake Park will be able to provide."

At Thursday's meeting numerous ideas concerning events for the 1984 Mt. Lake Park Days were shared. Restoration of the Assembly Hall, Mt. Lake Park Lake and the NATURE IN ITS MANY FACETS has always fascinated artist Bob Crowe and he made use of as many natural materials as possible in creating his ceramic work now on display through August at the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland. These representative works depict one of the four methods he uses in creating his ceramics, coil pieces. He also works with hand building, thrown pieces and slab pieces to create his works. Crowe, a county native, who has a master's degree in teaching and art from Western Oregon State College, moved three weeks ago to Mt. Lake Park. He and Mary Lee, his bride of one year, are planning to construct a kiln at their residence. A veteran of four exhibits of his work in Oregon, Crowe is planning a showing of his watercolors at the library in October and describes his work as taken from nature: with birds, landscapes and the like. In addition to drawing his inspiration from nature, the artist uses natural materials such as stones and driftwood to create the effect he seeks. Crowe is presently teaching arts and crafts at the Appalachian Center in Oakland.

Railroad station were cited as possible major projects.

Among those attending the meeting were Mayor Russell Alexander and two town councilmen, Welton Lane and Margo Vandiver. Mayor Alexander noted the town's intentions to apply for Program Open Space funds this year to restore the lake. He also stated that he was pleased that such a group of citizens was organizing and taking such an interest in the preservation and betterment of the town.

The organization is open to all persons, Sincell emphasized, whether or not they are residents of Mt. Lake Park. The next meeting will be held at the town hall on Thursday, August 18, at 7:30 p.m., at which time officers will be elected.

Lake Park, according to Donald Committee Has Meeting On Jobs

The Jobs Training Partnership Act, sponsored during the 1983 Session of the Maryland General Assembly by Senator John N. Bambacus, was the focus of a meeting of the Joint Committee on Federal Relations on Tuesday, August 2, in Annapolis. The meeting is the first in a series to be conducted in performing the Jobs Training Partnership Act (JTPA) Study required by Chapter 268, Laws of Maryland 1983. The objective of the study is to make recommendations to the 1984 Session of the General Assembly concerning the need for State programs to complement and supplement the federal jobs act, and to identify alternatives for the provision of State funds. "The new federal JTPA goes into effect October 1," Bambacus said. "It provides state legislatures with an unusual opportunity to improve the coordination of state job training, education and economic development efforts. JTPA represents a major and

Oakland Denies Bolinger Request

The Oakland Board of Zoning Appeals Thursday denied an application by Dr. David Bolinger for a variance from the town's home occupation zoning ordinance. Approxipresent and many gave comments in opposition to the proposal.

Bolinger had wanted to use a portion of the basement of his prospective property on N. Third Street for a exceeded the 25 percent ground floor area requirement normally allowed under the home occupation provision for town residential properties.

According to John Nelson, county zoning administrator, the appeals board felt that the criteria for approving such a variance had not been met. One of the criteria is that it must be mately 30 residents were proved that failure to grant the variance would prove a hardship, and not necessarily a financial hardship.

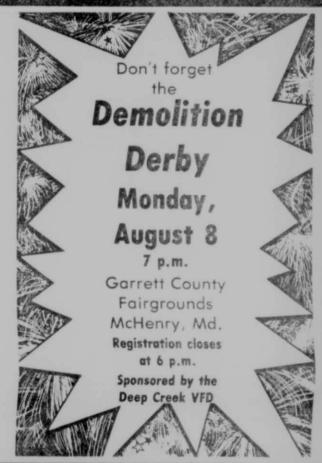

The board members, Pat Powers, Ann Englander, and Jenny Mandrovsky, also did not want to grant such a request as chiropractor's office. The they felt it may set a precedent proposed office would have for future applications in residential areas.

Volunteer Company Task Force Meets

The first meeting of the Governor's Task Force on State Support for Volunteer Fire. Rescue and Ambulance Companies was held on Tuesday, August 2, in Annapolis, District 1 Senator John N. Bambacus has been named by Governor Hughes as a member of the Task Force.

According to Task Force Chairman Fred Wineland, the initial meeting was to determine the duties and course that the panel will follow. The Task Force is charged with objectively evaluating and resolving the various issues surrounding the financing of volunteer companies equipment and facilities. The Emergency Assistance Trust Fund Program, along with other financing options, was reviewed.

'I am especially eager to begin my work with this important group," Bambacus said. "It has been my view that local initiative in the funding of volunteer services has been extraordinary, yet the need exists for a commitment from state government as well. The men and women who serve, without compensation, in these companies reflect the highest standards of community loyalty. Their continued success depends on a thorough review of all options for financial assistance." Bambacus continued.

In addition to representatives of the Maryland Senate and House of Delegates, Task Force members include representatives of the fire service in Maryland, the insurance industry, and state agency officials.

You've been putting money into your home for years.

Isn't it about time your home paid you back?

You've worked for years, making regular mortgage payments, in order to provide a comfortable home for your family. And chances are your house hasn't even said "Thank You."

Now your home can show you its gratitude through a

HOME EQUITY LOAN

at The First National Bank of Oakland.

You can borrow up to a maximum of 80% of the appraised market value of your home for a number of reasons - MAJOR HOME IMPROVEMENTS OR EXPANSIONS, REAL ESTATE INVESTMENTS, COLLEGE EXPENSES, BUSINESS NEEDS, MAJOR PURCHASES — you name it. And you need not re-finance your present mortgage!

For many people the equity in their homes remains a hidden treasure of cash reserves with amounts totaling $10,000, $20,000, $50,000 or more. Your equity represents ready cash for you to use.

What's your home's value? How much can you borrow?

Try this one-minute Home Equity Test. Just fill out the following and discover how well you have done over the years.

(1) Appraised Market Value of your home (2) 80% of that Appraised Market Value (3) Remaining Mortgage Balance (4) Subtract line 3 from line 2. This is the amount you may borrow against the equity in your home

The town officials had asked Quance early in July what the alternatives were if the town should decide not to pursue purchase of the Sterling treatment plant. According to Quance's reply, dated July 11, design work on the treatment plant would be stopped and Oakland may be instructed to repay the state and Environmental Protection Agency any money advanced from the design allowance. However, for now the town still has the grant and con-northwest of Kitzmiller at an trol of the money.

Most of the expenses, with the exception of the engineering and most of the design work, would be recoverable but not until Step 3 had been completed-a delay possibly two years or until construction on the project actually

Other options if the town does not seek sewer plant construction and rehabilitation would be for the Marvland Environmental Services to take over the project and bill the town for the difference between costs of construction, etc., and bill the town for the operating and maintenance costs.

Councilman Boal said after Monday's meeting he wanted to make it plain that the councilmen are not "anti-Sterling or anti-jobs" but simply feel their obligation keenly "to protect the taxpayers of the town." He concluded by saying "We have to live with this and what effect

Byron Concerned About Priority Of National Freeway

Sixth District Representative Beverly Byron has indicated her strong concern that no mention was made of the National Freeway in the announcement of the transfer of nearly $1 bilpriority projects. In a letter to Maryland Transportation Secretary Lowell Bridwell, Congresswoman Byron urged again that the National Freeway be placed on the official state priority list for local projects, and expressed the hope that the transfer of $974 million in federal funds will free up money for the freeway.

"On June 6, I hosted a meeting in Washington that included Secretary Bridwell and much of the Western Maryland delegation to the legislature," Mrs. Byron said. "At that meeting, Secretary Bridwell indicated that this project was a priority of the Department's. However, all of us at the June 6th meeting are beginning to wonder just how important this project is to many Baltimore area projects on which to spend a billion dollars," Representative Byron continued. "It seems to me that if Maryland really had this program high on its priority list, they would begin to suggest the use of several categories of funding instead of waiting for a shrinking pot of Appalachian Regional Commission money to pile up. This transfer demon-exist.' This is further proof that this project can be supported adequately at the federal level. However, without a solid commitment from the state, there is no way to get the last 18-mile stretch funded. I would think that considering the potential economic benefits for the whole state resulting from the National Freeway, the state

Leitzel has taught French at Southern High School for five years. In February of this year he accompanied six students on a three-week exchange program to LeHarve, France. He plans to conduct a similar trip during the 1983-84 school year. Leitzel also is the advisor at the Foster D. Bittle Chapter of the National Honor Society and has served as a junior class advisor.

strates that other resources do Inspections By Congresswoman Byron said, Fire Personnel To Be Continued

As local representatives of the state Fire Marshal's Office continue their extensive inspections of some 1,200 locations in Allegany, Garrett, and Washington counties, it was noted recently by assistant chief fire investigator for Western Maryland, Robert H. Shimer, that several violations are dominant.

Shimer said the extensive inspections continue in accordance with the annotated code of Maryland which mandates inspections of all state, county, and city-owned institutions, schools, theatres, churches, and other places of public assembly including restaurants, community rooms, and social halls, for fire exits and other fire safety standards.

Prior to the close of the school year, all schools were inspected, Shimer said. Some changes must be made to increase capacities at several locations.

He said that for the first time with an increase in the staff of the local fire marshal's office, and other administrative changes, the office will be able to inspect many establishments signed for language teachers not previously inspected, using

A SHERIFF and a dairy farmer provide variety to the music "The Countrymen" and all will be bringing their country sounds to the Garrett County Fair Friday, August 12. Known as Don Barnes and Debbie Williams and The Countrymen, the former is sheriff of Frederick County after a 20-year career in law enforcement, and Mrs. Williams and her husband operate a dairy farm near Johnsville, Md. The Countrymen, with various performers, have performed with virtually every Nashville artist in the business. On the group's "Nashville 709" label are two of Mrs. Williams' original songs, "Country Makes My Day" and "I Never Knew." They will be performing for county fairgoers at

Kitzmiller Church To Lend Support To House Of Hope

The Kitzmiller Assemblies of God Church has designated August as a month for sharing with others through the House of Hope ministries. The House of Hope is located in Oakland and depends on local communitites for its support. It provides short term shelter, food transportation, and monetary assistance for the needy.

The Kitzmiller congregation will be donating food and money during this month. Food items needed are all types of canned, jarred, dry and packaged foods.

The church invites the community to share in the project. At any time during this month persons may bring their gifts to the church.

Luke Retirement Dinner Scheduled

The 32nd Annual Retirement Dinner for all retired employees of Westvaco's Luke Mill will be held on Wednesday, August 10, on the lawn of the Piedmont Primary-Middle School, according to an announcement by Dr. Philip H. Emery, Jr., Mill Manager. A social hour will start at 4:30 p.m. with dinner at 5:30 p.m. There are currently over 600 Luke Mill retirees eligible to attend the dinner. Over 350 per-

Assessment Answers & Tax Talk ON 1983 PROPERTY TAX RATES

by James Burley

This is the time to review the action taken regarding local property tax rates, and the picture is not as encouraging as it was last year.

Nine counties (Calvert, Caroline, Carroll, Dorchester, Frederick, Kent, St. Mary's, Washington, and Wicomico) net loss of two counties in this category.

Compared to twelve counties last year, only five, (Garrett, Montgomery, Prince George's Talbot and Worcester) have lowered their tax rate, the average reduction being eight On the other hand, only one county found it necessary to raise its rate last year; whereas, this year the number increasing the rate has jumped to ten (Allegany, Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Baltimore City, Cecil, Charles, Harford, Howard, Queen Anne's, and Somerset). The average increase is sixteen cents or twice as much as the average re-

By some phenomenon of coincidence, two neighboring counties are at the extreme ends of the pole. Allegany had the largest rate increase at 38 cents, and Garrett had the largest rate reduction: 19 cents.

Two counties made the honor roll by keeping their rate equal to or lower than their constant yield tax rate. Talbot, the only county to do so, has kept its rate the same as the constant yield rate from the time of the inception of the Constant Yield Tax Rate Provision six years ago. This means, in effect, no aggregate for Talbot County property owners despite the fact the property values and duction Garrett County, which lowered its rate from $3.02 to $2.83. now has a rate that is actually one cent lower than its constant vield tax rate

The constant yield tax rate is figured for each subdivision by the assessments department. The local governing officials retain the responsibility for determining the actual tax levy each year. Although the constant yield tax rate is advisory, if they do not intend to adhere to it, the taxing jurisdictions must so inform the public and hold a public meeting on the subject before making a final decision on the tax rate for the tax year that begins July 1.

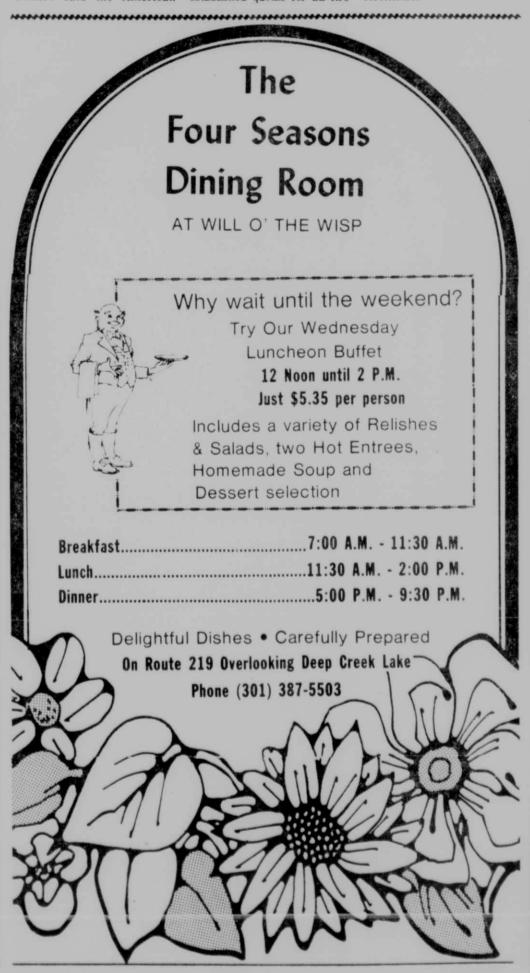

The average property tax rate for the state as a whole increased six cents-from $2.32 to $2.38, reversing the four-cent average drop of last year.

Mathias Offers Amendment On Defense Bill

Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. (R-Md.) has offered an amendment to the Fiscal Year 1984 Defense Authorization Bill calling on President Reagan to "actively consider" sea launched cruise missiles (SLCM) as part of the Strategic Arms Talks (START) now being held in Geneva.

Mathias said SLCM's should be included in START "with a view to the complete elimination of that type of weapon," and that the President should "propose to the Soviet Union, a mutual moratorium of further SLCM developments for the property tax increase in the duration of the START negotiations.

"If both sides were to engage in a massive development of assessments have risen during nuclear-armed land attack cruise missiles at sea, then Washington County had been President Reagan's search for the only other county in this ex- an arms control agreement inclusive class until this year. A FOREIGN WOMAN August 7, 1983

Background Scripture: Ruth. Devotional Reading: Luke 10:38-42.

Ruth had two strikes against her. First, she was a foreigner. And secondly, she was a woman. There seemed to be little reason for anyone to either acknowledge her or remember her. Yet, she is one of only two women to have a Biblical book named after her as Syrians and Moabites-as the and the story of Ruth is one of the example of neighborly compasbetter known ones of the Old sion and love.

with great fervor.

Yet, here was Ruth, a native of accursed Moab, held up as a mcdel of virtue to the Hebrew nation! Galling as they might have found that fact, there was no denying the validity of Ruth's stature. For she personified both love and loyalty, two qualities so often in short supply. Though she was not a native Jew, she possessed the very qualities that were to be expected of God's chosen people. A Moabite woman showed the Jews what God wanted them

Bible would point to a foreigner as an example for God's people. As Jesus was to remind his people. there were many lepers in Israel at the time of Naaman, but only the Syrian general is recorded as having been healed. CAGNEY & LACEY - I am a big fan of "Cagney & Lacey." Can you tell me if the show is scheduled for the fall season? - D.H. Boone.

CBS canceled "Cagney & Lacey," which is too bad since it was a much better show than most others on the air. However, Barney Rosenzweig, the producer who believes in the program as much as some of its viewers, is trying to sell CBS on the idea of some "C & L" special movies. What do Julius Erving, Mike Bossy and Melinda Culea have in common?

They're all members of a winning team, and Miss Culea, who plays Amy Amanda Allen on television's most successful team, "The A-Team," seems to have gotten more publicity than any of the Philadelphia 76ers or New York Islanders did for their recent triumphs.

And even though she is not the focal point of NBC's runaway hit series, Miss Culea is not about to issue any "give me a bigger part or I'll leave"

They went with the money," she says, of the show's first 14 episodes. "That was George (Peppard) and (Mr.) T. I'd love to do a film, but it's not in my lap right now. Right now it's the exposure that matters."

Having made the move from modeling to acting, her credits were limited to a pair of unsold pilots called "Wacked Out" and "Dear Teacher," an "ABC After School Special" and a role in "The Rules of Marriage" with

Elliot Gould. Movies remain her longrange goal and she believes that working on the brutal filming schedule "The A-Team" maintains can only

This led her to talking to series producer Ste-phen Cannell about her character's future.

"He said I have to be patient," says Miss Culea. "We have 22 shows upcoming for the new season and I'll have to see what the writers come up with.

Cameras don't lie: Actors must stay trim

By Elaina Thompson The first time I heard "a moment on the lips, a lifetime on the hips" was long ago on a Jack LaLanne televised exercise sermon, but currently the phrase now circulates as fast and as often as

However, are trim showfolks motivated by that precise warning? The phrase? No. The essence? You bet. We hear routinely about how television and movie actors must stay trim - cameras add pounds that really aren't there - and strong. These jobs that bring fame don't happen as often as they should, even for the talented, and they're not 9-to-

'Little House' specials

When NBC canceled the long-running series "Little House A New Beginning" (formerly "Little House on the Prairie") there were a lot of angry people to deal

Among them were the series' one-time star and full-time executive producer Michael Landon and "Little House" regular Vic-tor French. Their pleas for a continuation of the series did not materialize with NBC reinstating the series in the 1983-1984 schedule, but they did achieve second

'Fame': Is it going to live forever?

By Peter Meade

'NBC canceled 'Fame,' but we're not ready to cancel 'Fame.' " says Larry Gershman, president of MGM/UA Television Distribution while standing in front of the series' giant logo. Underneath it has been printed "We're gonna live forever!" "Fame" now hopes to become part of television history instead of being added to the annals of can celed shows When NBC announced two months ago that the series would not be renewed for a third year, the people at MGM UA were left with a hefty decision to make Although the show never became a big hit ratings-wise. it has a large cult-type follow-ing, is the No. I foreign show in England and is extremely popular throughout Europe.

"'Fame' is one of the three most successful shows in the world," says Gershman, and that coupled with the enthusiastic response he received from the Metromedia Network, Lexington Broadcast Services, advertisers and international licensees led to MGM/UA's decision that "Fame" will live on in syndi-

Within a month the plan to syndicate new episodes of the series was OKed by stations covering 72 percent of the country. Gershman added that he believes "Fame" will have at least 80 percent clearance by the time the first show airs in October.

The new shows, which will total between 22 and 24, will be shot in 35mm at a cost of approximately $700,000 an episode. Executive producer William Blinn will return as will cast members Debbie

Maryland Retains Waiver To Set Hospital Rates

David P. Scheffenacker, chairman of the Health Services Cost Review Commission, announced last week that Maryland has been granted a continuation of a waiver by the federal Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA) which allows the state, through its Health Services Cost Review Commission (HSCRC), to continue to set Medicare and Medicaid hospital rates.

"Continuation of the waiver," Mr. Scheffenacker said. "recognizes the success of tive-based payment system by which Maryland's hospitals are rewarded for holding down their rate of cost increase.'

From 1975 to 1982 cost per day the national average to slightly below the national average. The average cost of going to a Maryland hospital has fallen from approximately 341/2 percent above the national average to about 121/2 percent above the national average.

A new federal law, effective October 1, 1983, sets an effective limit on the rate of increase in Medicare payment for inpatient hospital services. Deborah Lewis-Idema, Assistant Secretary for Health Regulation of the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, noted that Maryland's prospective incenthese changes represent a significant challenge to Mary-regulatory apparatus. 'The waiver is fundamental to the effort by HSCRC to keep in Maryland's hospitals has the rate of increase in hospital

HCFA, the federal agency which administers Medicare and the federal portion of Medicaid, will pay Maryland's hospitals $900,000,000 this year. By continuing the waiver, Maryland will continue to have the country's most equitable hospital payment system, one in which all payers accept the responsibility for paying a fair share of the costs of care of those whose cannot pay for the high costs of hospital care. #### THE PROPHETIC WORD

The Scriptures were given to us piece-meal, "at sundry times and in diverse manners." Holy men of God, spake as they were moved by the Holy Spirit, during a period of 1600 years, extending from B.C. 1492 to A.D. 100. The Bible consists of 66 separate books, 39 in the Old Testament, and 27 in the New Testament. These books were written by about forty different authors. By Kings, such as David and Solomon; by statesmen, as Daniel and Nehemiah; by priests, as Ezra; by men learned in the wisdom of Egypt, as Moses; by men learned in the Jewish law, as Paul; by a herdsman, Amos; a tax gatherer, Matthew; fishermen as Peter, James and John, who were unlearned and ignorant men; a physician, Luke; and such mighty "seers" as Isaiah, Ezekiel, and Zechariah.

It is not an Asiatic Book, though it was written in that part of the world. Its pages were penned in the wilderness of Sinai, the cliffs of Arabia, the hills and towns of Palestine, the courts of the Temple, the schools of the prophets at Bethel and Jericho, in the palace of Shushan in Persia, on the banks of the River Chebar in Babylonia, in the dungeons of Rome, and on the lonely isle of Patmos, in the Aegean

The Nutrition Committee of the American Heart Association has prepared a series of articles providing information and recipes for healthier diets. Another of those articles, supplied by Wendy Norris, dietician for the Garrett County Memorial Hospital and a member of the commmitte, is as follows:

The American Heart Association, through its weekly Creative Cuisine articles, has been recommending heart-healthy recipes which can be used at either lunch or dinner. This month we want to encourage you to start your day off right by eating breakfast. More people disagree about breakfast than any other meal.

Some eat breakfast and some do not. Many folks feel that breakfast must be big and hearty, while, to others, coffee is all they choose to handle. Recent studies show that "breakfast eaters" are healthier and live longer than "breakfast skippers." So, remember . . . any good food is good for breakfast! Why not try a Sunday brunch as a change of pace? The Heart Association's nutirtion committee is committed to providing you with practical and sound menu ideas for healthier eating. If you save this recipe and the next four during August, you'll have the complete menu for a Sunday brunch to which you only add the coffee or tea!

Our first recipe is "Fruit Kabobs." They can be made with either wine or lemon juice.

WIC Strategies Announced By Secretary Wilzack

Maryland Secretary of Health and Mental Hygiene Adele Wilzack announced last week a series of actions to assure that the State utilizes its current allocation of Federal funds under the Women, Infants, and Children (WIC) Supplemental Feeding program to serve as many nutritionally needy mothers and children as possible across the State.

"I am satisfied that the WIC Task Force I appointed at the end of last week has moved quickly to try to correct the problems in the program-most importantly, to assure that we maximize the number of people we serve under this vital program," Secretary Wilzack commented.

In making the announcement, Secretary Wilzack pointed to five strategies the State will pursue immediately: enroll as many eligible mothers and children as quickly as possible; enhance the nutritional value of WIC food packages work with local agencies a maintain better records of potential eligibles; explore possibilities of using emergency centers to distribute food; and contact members of Congress to seek help in securing continuation funding of WIC at expanded

To accomplish the first priority, the State will begin an urgent effort to enroll as many eligible people as possible in the WIC program over the next two months. "While we know that the Maryland WIC program serves a higher percentage of eligible people than the national average, we cannot be complacent about this," Ms. Wilzack commented

We must pursue aggressively the large number of eligible mothers and children across the State-especially in the jurisdictions where they are most heavily concentrated, including Prince George's, Baltimore, Montgomery, and Anne Arundel counties." To assure the effectiveness of this emergency enrollment efforts. the State will fund additional temporary staff in some local agencies as well as overtime for existing staff in other local agencies for the next two months.

In addition, local agencies will be asked to review the food packages made available to as many current WIC participants as possible to assure that they receive all of the supplemental nutritional assistance they need over the next two months. "We know that previous Federal funding difficulties have forced us to limit some items in the food packages we provide," Ms. Wilzack commented. "We must now work to assure that we use the temporary increase in available Federal funds to enhance the nutritional value of food packages."

Third, the State will begin working with local agencies to record more systematically the names and addresses of potential eligibles for the WIC program, to assure that any possible future increases in Federal funding are utilized as fully and expeditiously as possible. "We need to be certain that we have the capacity to bring new people onto the program with minimum delays, should we experience any future Federal funding increases," Secretary Wilzack

Fourth, the State will work with the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA), which administers the WIC program, to explore the possiblity of using emergency centers to distribute mass quantities of food. This would enable the State to undertake a large scale purchase effort to help utilize to the fullest the Federal funds available on a short-term basis.

Finally, the Governor will contact the members of Congress to seek their assistance in securing continuation funding for the WIC program at the expansion level provided in the Jobs Bill, P.L. 98-8.

"It is important to understand that the Jobs Bill is the main reason we find ourselves in the position of a potential large Federal reversion," Ms. Wilzack emphasized, noting that the Jobs Bill gave Maryland a sudden $1.2 million increase in WIC funds at the end of April. "The problem is that this money has been available to us for only five months-through the end of September-and has been appropriated on a one-time-only item," Ms. Wilzack concluded.

> Until the early years of this century, the chestnut was one of the most valuable eastern hardwoods. Then a fungus lethal to the chestnut was introduced from China. Chinese chestnuts were resistant to the fungus but the American trees were not. The blight spread rapidly from New York, where it was first detected, throughout the eastern United States, felling virtually every chestnut in its path.

"The chestnut blight fungus girdles a tree and everything above the point of infection dies," Dr. MacDonald explains. "But the roots are not killed and they'll continue to send up new growth-almost certain to be

Citizens Aiding Police In Drunk Driver Arrests

The special citizen effort started one year ago to detect and report drunk drivers to police in Maryland has been very successful, according to State Police Superintendent Colonel W.T. Travers, Jr.

Figures compiled by State Police show that a total of 9,134 suspected drunk driving reports were made to state and local police by citizens throughout Maryland for the period of July 1, 1982, through July 4, 1983.

Police were able to locate 3,348 of the reported vehicles and from those contacts 1,251 drivers were arrested and charged with drunk driving.

"This citizen reporting program allows concerned citizens to become actively involved in helping to identify and remove drunk drivers from our highways by reporting them to police," Travers said.

"Driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol is a serious offense which all too often results in tragedy. It is important that citizens report drunk drivers to state or local law enforcement agencies as soon as they are de-

One of the ways a motorist can report a drunk driver to police is by the use of a CB radio. All State Police installations and some local police agencies monitor CB channel 9. "When you reach police you can relay detailed information such as what you have observed, description, direction of travel, and other information which would aid police in locating a suspected drunk driver", Travers stated.

> GARRETT Cooperative Extension Service COUNTY FARM-O-GRAM

by Jim Simms, Extension Agent, Agricultural Science Leafhoppers on Alfalfa

If you are noticing some yellowing in the alfalfa you probably have an infestation of leafhoppers. These little green insects can actually destroy an alfalfa crop. A few of the insecticides I would suggest are: Cygon, one pt. per acre (will also control aphids, grasshoppers and reduce alfalfa weevil larvae; Make only one application per cutting); Sevin 80S, 114 qts./acre; Furadan 1/2 pt./A; Imidan 50WP, 2 lbs./A; Methoxychlor, 1 qt./A. Make sure you read the label and pay particular attention to the time limits before harvest.

Worms in Sweet Corn

Let me say up front-nothing I know of will be entirely or very effective against worms which feed on and in ears of sweet corn. Two insects are the culprits; Corn Earworms which feed entirely in ear tips, and Corn Borers which feed anywhere they want on the corn plant. These worms come to the corn plant as eggs laid at night by moths. Corn earworm eggs are laid on corn silks while corn borer adults lay eggs mostly on undersides of leaves. Sevin is effective against these young worms as they hatch from eggs. However, it isn't practical or even possible to spray everywhere the worms may crawl. For this reason you may try to prevent worms in corn by spraying the ears several times from when silks first emerge from ear tips.

Tomato Leaf Roll

Many times I am asked what causes tomato leaves to roll up. In most cases this is not a disease or from insect damage. Neither does the leaf rolling seem to reduce yields. On many types of tomatoes which have a very heavy set of developing fruit foliage will roll upward. The more fruit which is developing, the more leaf rolling will be noted. Poor yielding tomatoes generally have little leaf rolling. Much of the rolling will appear on lower leaves rather than in the tops of plants. Pulling off leaves and shoots showing rolling will intensify the condition. If water is lacking in the soil leaf rolling will be more severe than if moisture is adequate around the roots. So, there is no cause for concern when tomato leaves roll, provided there is no browning or yellowing of

* HOMEOWNER

BONUS

When you increase the insurance limits on your home, the dollar amount of financial protection is automatically increased on the family's personal property, as well as on the dwelling structure.

Normally, under the homeowners package policy, the limits on personal property are set at 50 percent of the limits on the dwelling. For example, if your home is insured for $20,000, you have $10,000 worth of insurance on the furnishings, clothing and other personal property. If you increase the limits on the dwelling to $40,000, limits on the personal property automatically jump to $20,000.

In the event a loss occurs, you would be asked to provide the insurance company representative with an inventory of the damaged or destroyed items and their value, so that your claim can be processed without delay. If the property is lost through burglary or theft, the inventory will be helpful to police as well as to the insurer.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone one of our offices.

FIP Increases Production Of

More than 612 landowners in Maryland have signed agreements to increase timber production on 19.253 acres of forest lands through the 10-year-old Forestry Incentives Program, according to William B. Crum, chairman of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation

Concern over the nation's future timber supply led Congress to create the forestry program in 1973. Crum said. The FIP shares with landowners the costs of non-commercial forest operations such as site preparation and planting, cull tree removal, and pre-commercial thinning on non-industrial private lands. CANNING IN THE PRESSURE CANNER

Low acid vegetables and (Mondays and Fridays). meats must be canned in a pressure canner in order to be com- recipe for you to can in your pletely safe. The reason for this pressure canner: is: bacteria that grows in these foods is not destroyed unless it reaches above boiling temperatures. This can only be achieved under pressure. Foods in a hot water bath may boil for long periods of time, but the temperature still never goes above boiling

Many persons are fearful of using a pressure canner. The following tips should help to alleviate those fears:

*Follow the manufacturer's 5 minutes. Pour, hot, into hot directions for the canner you are using

Add 14 tsp. salt to each pint or 12 *Put 2 to 3 inches of boiling tsp. salt to each quart. Adjust water in the bottom of the caps. Process pints 55 minutes, canner; the amount of water to quarts 1 hour and 25 minutes, at use depends on the size and 10 pounds pressure. Yield: shape of the canner. about 7 quarts.

*Set filled glass jars on rack in canner so that steam can flow around each container. If two Process the length time needed layers of jars are used, stagger the second layer. Use a rack between layers of glass.

*Fasten canner cover securely so that no steam can escape through vent.

*Watch until steam pours steadily from vent. Let it escape for 10 minutes or more to drive all air from the canner. Then close the petcock or put on weighted gauge.

*Let pressure rise to 10 pounds (240F). The moment this pressure is reached, start counting processing time. Keep pressure constant by regulating heat under the canner. Do not lower pressure by opening petcock. Keep drafts from blowing on canner.

*When processing time is up, remove canner from heat immediately.

*With glass jars, let canner stand until pressure is zero. Never try to rush the cooling by pouring cold water over the canner. When pressure registers zero, wait a minute or two, then slowly open petcock or take off weighted gauge. Unfasten cover and tilt the far side up so steam escapes from

Oakland Council Keeps Tax Rate At $1.20 Per $100

The Oakland town council acted Monday evening to accept the town's combined general and water department budget, and set the tax rate at $1.20 per $100 of assessed value.

The tax rate remains the same as last year. Total revenue expected is $841,255.41.

There will be public hearing concerning use of the town's estimated $30,462 revenue sharing budget prior to the next regular council meeting September 12, at 6 p.m.

The estimated revenue includes some $70,000 from highway user fees distributed by the state, and $40,000 from the Maryland police protection

Expenditures will include $201,574.28 for the street department, $83,578.03 for police, $18,700 for Broadford Recreation area, $231,807.35 for general and administrative needs, $299,337.80 for the water department, and $6,257.95 for a

Data On Fires, Investigations

Fire investigations in Garrett County increased from 42 in fiscal year 1982 to 52 in fiscal 1983, according to statistics released this week by Robert H. Shimer, assistant chief fire investigator for the five western most counties of the state. However, Shimer said, the number of arson-related fires decreased by about five percent.

The 1983 fiscal year statistical report indicates the state Fire Marshal's Office investigated 1,436 fires, of which 589, or 41 percent, were classified as incendiary or arson fires. Of those cases reported to be arson, 163 or 27.8 percent, resulted in arrests with 108 closed by conviction.

In addition to fire investigations, the fire marshal personnel conducted 4,648 inspections and presented 96 lectures and demonstrations on public fire education, Shimer

On the local level, 52 fires were investigated in Garrett County, of which nine, or 17.3 percent were classified as arson, and 11, or 21 percent, as undetermined. The total monetary loss in the county due to fires was estimated at $123,550. Total inspections in the county were 240. Shimer said five arrests were made in Allegany and Garrett counties for the past fiscal year, of which two were juveniles. Cases pending court action still include four in Garrett County and two in Allegany County.

Two fire deaths were reported in Garrett County during the period, one in January in Mt. Lake Park and one in February near Hutton.

Tougher Control Needed

From time to time we utilize this column to take a rather firm stand for increased gun control, particularly the control of handguns. We can't think of a better time to reiterate this opinion in light of what happened to a four-year-old Garrett County boy last week.

Brandon Frantz was a perfectly healthy young man last Tuesday evening when he left with his father to take garbage to a dumpster site. However at about 6:15 p.m., within a split second, he was much closer to death than life, as his brain was penetrated by the bullet of a handgun. It was apparently not a vicious, deliberate act by the 18-year-old youth who fired the gun, but simply a tragic, careless one. The probability of that wayward bullet striking Brandon was minute; but it happened, and similar accidents happen every day, particularly in the United States where there is little control of the possession and use of handguns.

The newsroom of this publication receives a pleasant little brochure every month entitled "The Handgun Body Count," which gives names and details of all the accidental and deliberate handgun shooting deaths in the country, state by state, for that particular month. Our nation has the distinction of leading the world in such deaths, recording nearly 800 every month. Many of the victims are beautiful, innocent children, just like Brandon Frantz. For those persons who enjoy being depressed, we heartily recommend subscribing to "The Handgun

We believe that much stricter handgun control is sorely needed. We would prefer that they were made illegal for the general public. We see no need for handguns. Other than for the fun of target shooting, they are nothing but a dangerous menace to society and an item which gives many owners a warped and often deadly sense of macho-ism and power.

However, as a compromise position, we strongly recommend laws making it difficult to obtain and own a handgun. Completion of a comprehensive course, including a tough examination, should be a must before a person is allowed to own a handgun. A follow-up refresher course should also be required from time to time.

Fireworks are also fun. But they are illegal and permits to use them are expensive and limited to experienced pyrotechnicians. Even if fireworks were legal, there would still be far more persons killed by handguns than by fireworks accidents.

Shooting crossbows is fun too. But they are illegal.

Driving an automobile requires training, testing and a license. Why shouldn't possession of something as dangerous as a handgun have similar requirements?

The National Rifle Association (members of which will no doubt rake us over the coals in the letters to the editor column next week) stresses safety, at least with words. Yet it spends most of its money on politicking and persuasion of legislators to lay off gun control. Why won't the NRA utilize its huge resources to force legislation for stronger sentences against violent crimes and for sponsoring nationwide classes in the proper use of handguns?

Thanks to the talents of Brandon's physicians and to the thousands of prayers by those who know and love him, Brandon is making a strong recovery after teetering on a fine line between life and death for several days. The next child may not be so lucky. How many horrible accidents are going to have to occur before our lawmakers wake up?

In Other Words

Celery Crunchers, Unite!

by Carol Fox

Each week, as I peruse daily and weekly newspapers, magazines, and other assorted written matter, I often find something I think is worth sharing. Such was the case this week when a newsletter from the Pennsylvania Green Thumb organization crossed my desk via an employee. Thanks, Mom.

The pamphlet offered the Calorie Counter Prayer, which shares the lament of all those of us who've added more to the waistline over the years than we care to admit, and brought a smile to many who've tried, in vain, to recapture the youthful figure we once knew. It goes like this .

The Lord is my Shepherd, I shall not want. He maketh me lie down and do push-ups.

He giveth me Hollywood bread.

He restoreth my waistline.

He leadeth me past the refrigerator for mine own good. He maketh me to partake of green beans instead of potatoes.

He leadeth me past the pizzeria. Yea, though I walk through the bakery, I shall not falter.

For Thou art with me, Thy Tab and Thy Fresca, they comfort

Thou preparest a diet for me in the presence of mine enemies. Thou anointest my lettuce with low-cal oil. My cup will not overflow. Surely Ry-Krisp and D-Zerta shall follow me all the days of my life And I will live with the pains of hunger forever

Perhaps the message will not help slim the thighs or squeeze the middle-aged "spread" into a size 10 again, but hopefully, it will bring a smile to the celery-crunching lips of dozens of Americans as it's passed around. On another note, a column in a Sunday newspaper written by a member of the legislature warned of the latest scheme devised to bilk elderly victims out of their savings. It seems a self-styled evangelist sent a letter to an elderly woman in an unnamed town telling of a "special mission" the Lord had chosen her for. The letter went on to explain that the writer needed $1000, and that she (the victim) was the "key" to the money. The writer instructed the woman to kneel down and pray for the Lord to show her how to raise the money, and that when the answer had come, she was to call the letter writer. The woman did as the letter instructed, because the writer also told her that if she did not send the money, the Lord would be displeased, and something bad would surely happen.

Fortunately, the woman contacted her minister when her prayers did not reveal a way to raise the $1000 dollars. This particular con man was thwarted in his effort, but the incident signifies a genuine threat that unscrupulous persons attempt to use on the elderly. These thieves prey on religious beliefs and charitable instincts, using scare tactics, claims of credibility, pressure, and haste.

If you believe you are being victimized or defrauded, contact local authorities or the post office and request an investigation. It's better to be safe than sorry

YOU HAD TO DO AN ACID RAIN DANCE ...

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor: Sometime ago the Garrett County Roads Department advertised for bids for ten new trucks. It has come to my attention that the bids have been received and awarded. The low bid of $404,748.60 was from Light & Decker International of Hagerstown, the next lowest bids were from Martin GMC of Hagerstown, $405,181; Grantsville Ford, $406,627; Interstate Mack, Hagerstown, $467,170; and Casselman Motor Co., Grantsville, $499,030.

It is my understanding that the contract for the ten trucks was awarded to Interstate Mack of Hagerstown at $467,000. It would appear to me that the Commissioners who awarded this contract are merely adding more fuel to the fire called Garrett County's faltering economy. Had the money been kept local it would have helped our economy. If the information that I have obtained on this bid award is false, apologize. However, if the information is correct, the Commissioners' Office should explain to the voters of this county why they chose the bid of valuable resource-a cultural than the low bid.

If the bidders met the required specifications then the residents of Garrett County deserve to know why, with a competitive bid process, the contract was not awarded to the low bidder.

Russell B. Alexander, Sr.

To the Editor: As we approach the end of another season of summer theater, it is time to say thank you for a job well done to Garrett County's own professional theater-the Garrett County Playhouse-whose formances have delighted summer audiences on the mountain top for 29 seasons. More than the usual number of bravo's are due this year to Gene Yell and his company who have had to cope with a variety of problems, yet have continued to provide outstanding entertainment each week.

The last-minute decision to move the Playhouse to the Garrett Community College theater presented a few initial problems in notifying the community about the change in location and in adapting the company's rehearsal schedule and performances to the college facilities. Then there was the frustration of having the Playhouse signs stolen repeatedly, and of having to rehearse and perform with the remodeling work being done at the college. Yet, in the best tradition of the theater, the show has gone on.

Anyone who has seen the Garrett County Playhouse productions this season knows what an exceptional group of talented actors and actresses Gene Yell and Milburn Mehlhop have assembled, and what first-rate performances they have been giving. For five weeks the productions have sparkled with the talent and versatility of David Cramer, Milburn Mehlhop, Joan Statkus, Brownelle and Mike Adams, Clifton Chadwick and Christopher Templeton, all of whom have played their parts to perfection. Mary Ruth Sincell, Ben Sincell and Mara Papasoff who have joined the company for various performances have clearly demonstrated the superb quality of our local talent.

Under the watchful eye of the 'master' Gene Yell, Jim and Bob Wick have done an excellent job of technical theater. With only two weeks remaining in the season, we are all looking forward to "Luy" and to "Poor Richard" next week.

It has been a pleasure to have the Garrett County Playhouse at the college this summer. We hope they will come back next

> Joan B. Crawford Garrett Community College

I have been a summer resident of Garrett County for almost fifteen years and one of the most enjoyable, enriching attractions of the Deep Creek Lake area has always been the Garrett County Playhouse.

In addition to the joys of live theater, the plays have been a great education for my children, and we have grown to feel grateful to Gene Yell and his talented troupe for many an evening's fine family entertainment. We look forward each summer to getting reacquainted with the familiar faces of Milburn Mehlhop and Joan Statkus and remember fondly such former personalities as Neil Flanagan and the late Cather MacCallum. The whole theatrical world is indebted to Mr. Yell for his nurture of the constant parade of new students who practice their art on our playhouse stages.

Sadly, the disruption and expense caused by their recent forced move has strained the budget of the Playhouse to the point that this season may determine whether or not this asset to our community for 29 years!-can remain here in Garrett County.

I write as one who loves our Playhouse to urge all residents-including regular summer visitors-of Garrett county to take action. First attend the Garrett County Playhouse at its new location in the auditorium of Garrett Community College. There are only two weeks left in the season. Come and experience what they have to offer-the plays are excellent and the performances highly professional. Second, please consider making an extra contribution to the Playhouse. Their financial need is

If Garrett County were to lose its Playhouse, my family and I would be very sad. But for the county as a whole it would be a real-life tragedy, not just a theatrical one!

> William R. Clough Orange Park, Fla.

Sincerely

To the Editor:

According to statements appearing in the news media our Board of County Commissioners, in office less than one vear, have spent more money than any other board ever expended in such a short period

They started out by adopting a resolution to approve the expenditure of an estimated 18 million dollars for the establishment of a sewerage project at the lake in opposition to the majority of the people's wishes. Before it is finished this project may cost much more than the estimated 18 million. During recent weeks they have purchased approximately seven hundred forty thousand dollars worth of County Roads

equipment as follows:

'Ten large Mack trucks, to cost four hundred sixty eight thousand dollars, two John Deere backhoes to cost eightyone thousand dollars, three brush hogs to cost eighty-five thousand six hundred forty dollars, a hydraulic excavator to cost ninety-eight thousand dollars, three pickup trucks to cost twenty-four thousand

They have closed a much used county road that runs from Accident to Friendsville. This is a road of long standing that has been in use more than 100 years. Many of us who do not live on this road have used it to get to Friendsville when the Bear Creek was flooded. It is an important road to perhaps a dozen families who live along it. The roads engineer has reported that it would cost over four hundred thousand dollars to make the bridge safe for traffic where it crosses Bear Creek. The statement is lacking in integrity and in judgment.

We all had high hopes that this Board of Commissioners would respond to the wishes of the people. They have been a great disappointment. Four years of this kind of conduct would indeed be a tragedy. Clifford Friend

Accident To the Editor The GCAESP has in the last three weeks sought to focus some attention on the cut in services to Chapter I students in grades kindergarten through six. The children can't speak for themselves. The parents are caught up in the "red tape." The public is unaware, lost in educational and governmental double-talk, and the bureaucrats continue to do as they please. In a decade from now, we'll realize we have affected concerns. The general information is as follows (from the limited sources we have-exact figures must come from the Board of Education and county commissioners)

our children's learning opportunities because of monetary

1. The cut in Chapter I aides from a five to four-day week equates to the loss of 6.5 to 7 fulltime-equivalent positions. This is based on our belief that there were 35 Chapter I aides. These seven cut by limited employment, when combined with three positions dropped, mean there will be 25 aides to do the job of 35.

The cut means there must be 10 positions left without funding. These aides, with ten years experience on the average, cost approximately $7,500 each in salary, and $1,100 in fringes such as social security, insurance, sick leave etc.

The simple fact is the federal government cut $86,000 from Chapter I. No one in the state picked up the loss and now it is the problem of the Board of Education and the commissioners. To date, they have chosen to ignore the question. It is worth $6.37 per hour to have a ten-year experienced aide help a child in elementary school to learn reading and by Harry Fox A couple of weeks ago I gamely volunteered that I might be able to install a ceiling fan in the dining room at my mother-inlaw's house. After waiting patiently for the gales of laughter to subside, I proceeded to the hardware store to find out what I'd Somehow these fans always conjure up images of men in Panama hats nursing their drinks in dimly lit corners of Casablanca. What I discovered was a salesman from Akron, Ohio, with a midwestern accent sipping a can of Pepsi Free. The guy in the movie, sitting under one of these great machines with slowly turning wooden paddles, never seems to have a dollar in his pocket-but, I found, it would take about 150 of them to put one over the dining room table.

Now, you must understand that my reputation as a handyman has preceded me. (My wife still talks about the time I repaired the drain in the kitchen sink. Thereafter the hot water faucet turned on the lights on the back porch. We never did figure it out, and finally moved to a new house.) This explains why the store manager's eyes glazed over when I mentioned do-it-yourself installation. He thrust a pamphlet entitled "What every consumer should know" into my hands and left the sales floor to get some aspirin. Needless to say, I found the helpful advice useful in considering what to do next.

For instance, the question of ceiling height—the brochure recommends a ceiling at least eight feet high. My biggest worry is guaranteeing that the slowly revolving blades won't meet my mother-in-law's hair as she serves the fried chicken. It would be hard to explain why she was disowning me for the price of a bad crew cut!

Then there's the question of safety while doing the installation. The brochure explains that the mounting site I select should be able to support at least 45 to 50 pounds. My wife is more concerned about the ability of the ladder I select to support me!

The consumer's guide poses the question of attempting the wiring without the aid of a licensed electrician. My wife says-next question!

The brochure recommends spending more to get a maintenance-free motor. Since the family would resent my perch over the mashed potatoes with a can of Three-in-One Oil, I suppose it's

I hope that I'll be able to enjoy it as I munch fried chicken out back-in the dog house!

Sincerely,

To the Editor Last Sunday three children found a dog which was a victim of a hit-and-run driver. The dog was alive. Thanks to the efforts of one our dedicated citizens, Dr. James Fearer, the dog will soon be home again. It would have been easy for Dr. Fearer to say that he didn't have office hours on Sunday and would be spending time with his family. He was summoned from his Sunday School class and did what he feels is a part of his responsibility to Garrett Countians and our animal

Unfortunately, not all services are performed with this sense of dedication and responsibility. The newlyorganized Humane Society was contacted. We received no help; after all, it was Sunday morning! Perhaps members of this society should re-examine their goals and purpose. It's not to be a social club, but a "humane" organization dedicated to protection, love, and care of animals, regardless of time of day or day of the week.

friends

After all other resources available were contacted-to no avail-I called the Sheriff's department. My request was simple. I asked for assistance in moving the dog to Dr. Fearer's office. Had the deputy explained to me, in a polite manner, that he could not assist, I would have accepted this. Instead, the deputy sarcastically told me in a chuckling voice, "Sure, I can assist. I'll come down to shoot the dog and put it out of its misery.

It's a shame that in such a

If you're going down, Harry, would you mind taking the garbage?

I don't like people with suntans. Mostly because I look like a cadaver in a bathing suit.

I suppose I could get a tan if I wanted to, but I don't relish the thought of basting outside in the broiling sun-it would make me feel like the main course at a barbecue.

On my occasional trips to the beach someone always embarrasses me. The last time a tall, sinewy blonde with deep bronze skin approached my beach blanket.

"Excuse me," she said, "are you okay?" 'Me? Never felt better," I assured her.

"Just checking," she explained. "From a distance, I figured are greasy. I don't enjoy holding hands with someone who is wearing a can of Crisco. The manufacturers of this greasy gook are always inventing new improved formulas. I tried one preparation which smelled like a Pina Colada and a wino followed me around the pool for half an hour.

Maybe it's just that I'm not used to the sun. Up in my native North we don't have any sun. Once or twice a year this big yellow globe appears through the smog so everyone can see what they're breathing, but that's about it.

I've decided I'm not going to let people with suntans bother me anymore. I figure in about 40 years I'll get my revenge, because while they are walking around resembling Sunsweet Prunes, I'll be on the beach blending in with the sand. I do a

Rebele Receives Assistantship

Garrett County school teacher Joanne Rebele, Oakland, has received a graduate assistantship to Kutztown University, near Allentown, Pa., for the 1983-84 school year.

Mrs. Rebele, who has taught elementary school in the county for 13 years, has been granted a sabbatical by the county school board to earn a reading specialist certificate at Kutz-

The assistantship will involve 20 hours of work in the university's curriculum center where Mrs. Rebele will teach undergraduates in the school of education, and will assist them in developing curriculum units, covering a range of subjects and for various age groups,

Besides the assistantship, Mrs. Rebele will complete six courses during the school year. The assistantship will allow her to attend classes tuition free.

Al Ringer, county assistant superintendent of instruction, stated Mrs. Rebele was the first of the five county teachers who have taken a sabbatical to receive a graduate assistantship.

The opportunity to take a sabbatical has been available to county teachers since 1973. Ringer described the purpose of the program was to allow teachers to improve themselves my 9-to-5 routine and work on more of a free-lance basis, maybe even from my home. I'm reasonably good with tools and have space to set up a workshop here. Can you suggest something that will help me make a change like this?

A. You haven't said much about where your interests lie--which might help me make suggestions. However, there are many general possibilities which can help you develop a skill into a career. First read "Carpenters and Builders Library" by Ball, which tells in detail about all aspects of building and remodeling. If a particular aspect appeals to you after getting some ideas here, try "Master Handbook of Sheet-degree in education and human metal Work," by Blandford, development from the Uni- which describes another trade that could be suitable to you.

> If you like working with wood, "Better Homes and Gardens Wood-Working Projects You Can Build," will tell you everything you need to know about popular and novel wood things that you can sell anywhere. Or if your medium is masonry, "Complete Concrete Masonry and Brick Handbook" by Adams will tell you how to get

Perhaps you lean more to crafts rather than heavy building trades. If this is the case, picture framing is something always in demand. Brown tells you what you'll need to know in "How to Do Your Own Professional Picture Framing." Another uncommon but interesting profession could be bookbinding, and Riberholt tells you how to get started in this ancient skill in "Bookbinding at

Another uncommon but interesting craft would be making lamps, and Murphy tells all in "Lampmaking." and "Leathercrafting," by Peterson takes you through all the steps to perfecting your talents in this field.

Finally, I'd like to suggest "Automobile Restoration Guide," a very handy book by Nowak, in case you happen to have any old autos lying around that could be turned into cash with the proper know-how. All

The Schrock family reunion

Mountain Lake Park by Margo Vandiver, Council Member

Upon being sworn in as a member of the town government, the mayor, Russell Alexander, outlined my official function: street lights and Public Relations. The first I took seriously, finding out how to handle calls—but no one has called me, yet. The second I lightly dismissed. But I find that on second thought that it should be approached more earnestly. As part of this intent, I felt that a column on Mountain Lake, published at periodic intervals, might be an appropriate forum.

We have an exciting community, and it is developing a growing awareness of its rich heritage. Witness the Standing Room Only audience for the Mountain Lake Park Days on July 11th and 12th. More than 400 interested residents and visitors attended the lectures and toured the eleven Victorian homes which were open. People came from far and wide, in the middle of the week, to learn more about us as a community and discover our past. There is a tremendous interest growing across the nation about the Victorian era. However ours is a community that changed its course after the original religious thrust of the community began to wane. It continued to grow, integrating successfully the new and old, facing changes realistically and adapting readily. Other communities were not so fortunate.

Perhaps now is a good time to look at ourselves as a community and find out just who we are, where we want to be and are headed. I would like to use this column to do just that. Your input will be necessary. So please call me (334-3600) if you know of a person or event which could be

On July 11th I publicly expressed my gratitude to you for being so quickly accepted into the community. This I believe to be an unusual occurrence in a small town. I well remember that in another small Maryland town on the Chesapeake Bay, anyone not having been born and raised in the town or area was not only considered, but labeled a "foreigner." Since we do have such a mobile society in these days, it is indeed heartening for newcomers to be made to feel "at home.

Our family believes Mountain Lake Park to be a special unity for many reasons. The Park has a diverse group of residents with many talents and interests and a rich history. We blend the new and old, be it architecture or people, and are always looking for the best.

Manning Wins Men's Singles In Annual Tourney

Kevin Manning, of Alexandria, Va., had little trouble disposing of Mike Barnes, Hampstead, in the men's singles finals of the 62nd Annual Western Maryland Tennis Championships on Saturday at the Mt. Lake Park courts. Manning won the match in two sets, 6-3, 6-3, to wrap up the final day of play in the five-day event. Excellent weather prevailed the nation. throughout the tournament, which in past years has been forced by wet weather into extra days of play elsewhere.

Meanwhile, Tuppy Dougherty, Washington, D.C., also had little difficulty defeating Julie Willison, Hyndman, Pa., in the women's finals, 6-0,

In the men's singles, age 35-44, Lin Foss, Arlington, Va., topped Paul Edwards, Silver Spring, for the title, 6-3, 6-2. In the same age category for women, Janet Phillips, Cumberland, defeated Joan Brisban, Huntington, W.Va. 6-0. 6-2.

Dan Ayala, Washington, D.C., won the men's 45-59 age class, topping Peter Mudre, Columbus, Ohio, 6-7, 6-3, 6-4.

In men's singles competition, age 60 and over, Rex Matthews. McLean, Va., edged the previous Western Maryland champion, Doyle Royal, Bethesda, 7-6, 6-3.

Manning teamed up with Steve Gill, Bluefield, Va., to win the men's doubles event, defeating singles runner-up Mike Barnes and his brother, Chuck Barnes, 1-6, 6-3, 7-5. Joan Brisban and Joyce Baker, Cabin John, Md., were victorious in women's doubles, besting Kelly Green, Mt. Lake Park, and Lucille Renola, Arlington, Va., 7-6, 6-2.

Taking the men's doubles title in the age 45-59 class were burg, Rocky Beeman and Brian Charles Atherton, Deep Creek Lake, and Fred McNair III, Chevy Chase, as they whipped Peter Mudre and Bob Jenner, Pittsburgh, 6-3, 7-6.

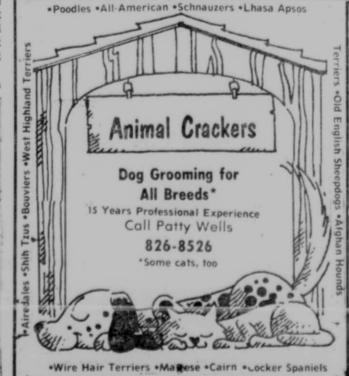

Tom Rixey, Potomac, and Rex Matthews edged out Earle

We Goofed!

Last week's sports pages carried two photographs of senior division Little League baseball players who were incorrectly identified as the Pizza Hut team which finished in third place in the league standings. In reality, the team was My-O-Tire, sponsored by Russell Sines, owner of My-O-Tire Co., and the team finished in second place behind First National Bank. There is no Pizza Hut team in the league.

The team was treated to a pizza party at the Oakland Pizza Hut by team manager Bob Goad and Brent Gillespie, manager of Pizza Hut. Gillespie furnished four awards to our standing team members.

Also, one of the awardees was J.R. Boslev who was identified last week as rookie of the year and the player with the fewest strike-outs. It also should have stated that he led the team in batting, finishing with a .423

Final league standings were: First National Bank, 16-0; My-O-Tire, 7-9; Island Creek, 5-11; and Elks, 4-12.

ANOTHER BIG PIKE — The first day of the month seems to be an excellent day for Robert Miske, Green Glade Road, to cast a line into Deep Creek Lake. On May 1 of this year, Miske hooked a 401/2-inch, 14-pound, five-ounce northern pike. Then on August 1 he reeled in the beauty pictured here, another 401/2-inch fish which weighed 16 pounds, two ounces. Miske is still trying to catch up with his wife, Mirian, however, who hooked the 1980 Maryland state record pike, a 41-inch, 17-pounder. All three fish, plus the alltime state record catch, a 441/2-inch, 191/2-pound pike, were caught

Oakland Splits With Hyndman And Cumberland

After being routed by Pen Mar League leader Everett in a doubleheader the previous week, the Oakland team came back to pick up splits with Cumberland and Hyndman this past week.

In the first game on Wednesday, Cumberland edged Oakland 8-7 as Bill Malec bested Matt Hixon and Mike Brady, with Hixon taking the loss. Lawrence Nesselrodt hit a solo home run and a double for Oakland, while Ed Wildesen added a three-run blast. Leading Cumberland were Greg Buckley, who finished with three hits, and Marshall Wayland, Tim and Francis Mouse, who added two hits each.

Mike Brady, Randy Workman and Jeff Rhodes combined for a 9-3 win for Oakland in the second game over Mark Malec. Nesselrodt, Randy Cirillo and Frank Lewis paced Oakland with two hits each.

Brady fired a six-hitter on Sunday to lead Oakland to a 12-3 win over Hyndman in the opener. Nesselrodt again led Oakland by going five-for-five and providing three RBIs. Phil Caruso, Wildesen and Mickey Chapman contributed two hits each.

Leading the Pennsylvanians' hitting was pitcher Mike Keel. who had three safeties.

In the nightcap Hyndman played long ball as Lee Roy smashed a grand slam in the second inning and Mike Matthews, Steve Feaster, and Keel each added home runs. Jeff Hossell gained the 13-7 win over Jeff Rhodes.

Wildesen smacked a two-run homer for Oakland, while Chapman and Terry Helbig added two hits each.

Mrs. Sarah Rush

Nearly 80 friends and relatives of Sarah Rush, Confluence, Pa., gathered at her home on July 31 to help her celebrate her 90th birthday. Mrs. Rush, the former Sarah Jane Thomas, was born near Draketown, Pa., on August 1, 1893. She married William H. Rush, Sr., in 1914 and has spent most of her life in Confluence on a 200-acre farm. Mr. Rush died

The couple had ten children, six of whom are still living. They are Benjamin C., Accident; Lawrence E., Oakland; Roger C., Scottdale, Pa.; Clara Bell Cannon and Millicent the local community college, A. Rush, both of Confluence area; and Leora R. Lytle, Baltimore. All of her children and their families were present at the surprise party on July 31.

Mrs. Rush also has 17 grandchildren, 25 great-grandchildren and one great-greatgrandchild.

Mrs. Rush attributes her longevity to several factors: "To God above, clean, healthy country living, using plenty of herbs and vitamins, along with Dr. Shinholt's chiropractic treatments and a small amount of medical doctoring.

She grows many of the herbs on her farm. She has generally good health although she is a little hard of hearing and has used a walker since she fell and broke her hip two years ago.

"I have asked the Lord to give me my right mind as long as I live," she stated, "and I think he will.'

ANOTHER SKIER INJURED - As the Maryland State Police Medevac helicopter made its arrival at Holy Cross Camp at Deep Creek Lake Sunday, members of the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad carry an injured water skier on a backboard and make preparations to load him into the helicopter. Daniel Frasier, 22, of Kensington, suffered a severe laceration to his left foot when he was hit by the propeller of the boat which had been towing him. Also responding to the 2:30 p.m. incident was the Deer Park Volunteer Fire Department. Frasier was transported to Memorial Hospital in Cumberland where he underwent surgery and was listed in "fair" condition early this week. There have been at least four accidents involving boaters and skiers on Deep Creek Lake this summer. Photos courtesy of Walter E. O'Brien

Local Farmer Finds Balloon From Pt. Marion

A helium-filled toy balloon, which traveled from Point Marion, Pa., to Garrett County, was recovered recently by a local resident on his farm near the Savage River Dam. The balloon was launched by ten-year-old Jason Robinson, a fourth grade student at Point Marion School, and found in a field by Allan S. Murphy while he was making hay. The Robinson youth was participating in the Weekly Reader's Writing Pals Balloon Contest

Murphy, who is 72, responded to Jason with the following

Dear Jason,

Reader's Writing Pals Balloon ers. Contest at school.

I live on a 134-acre farm here in Garrett County, Maryland, about 12 miles from Swanton and about 21/2 miles from the Savage River Dam.

My son, Roland, and myself were starting to make hay and had already cut and raked the hay, when I saw your letter in a plastic container. As luck would have it, we hadn't raked it up in the hay! So, here I am answering your letter.

We have a very nice farm here in Garrett County, We have beef cattle on our farm-between 50 and 60 head, some sheep and lambs, pigs, and chickens that lay lots of eggs, cats and dogs.

By the way, Jason, I am a 72-year old man, but still a boy at heart. I work every day here on the farm. I've been so busy, that's why I didn't answer your letter quicker. I found it on June 14, 1983.

I am anxious to hear from you again. Tell me about when you sent the balloon and tell me all about yourself and your family. I'll answer your letter, but will probably not sent it air mail like vou did!

Sheriff Releases Report For July

Garrett County Sheriff Franklin G. Finch has released his department activity report for July, listing 20 arrests for that month.

Some 378 papers in civil, law, criminal, equity, juvenile and miscellaneous cases were served and 280 complaints answered. Arrests were made for breaking and entering, theft, assault, assault with intent to maim, driving while intoxicated, and controlled dangerous substance violations, among others.

There were 22 prisoners at the beginning of the month, 48 were added and 42 released, leaving 28 at the end of July.

Departmental chores added I am happy to write this letter 27,000 miles to the vehicles to you to tell you that I found while answering complaints. your balloon that you sent up making patrol checks, serving into the sky in the Weekly papers and transporting prison-

TEAMWORK EXTRAVAGANZA - This elegant set of matched Belgium horses set the crowds at the third annual Friendsville Festival into cheers and rounds of applause as they performed under the skillful hands of their owner, Bob Decker, who visited the festivities from Garrett, Pa. Sharing the spotlight with the Decker family was Dottie, the pet Dalmation. The team was pulling a 1937 fire engine, part of a collection of 1937 cars and trucks owned by Mr. Decker as a portion of his unusual hobby-collecting items manufactured in the year of his birth. He owns 60 of the Belgium beauties, and 60 head of beef cattle, as well. The crowd pleasers were harnessed in matching black trappings, set off with miniature American flags.

The Glotfelty family must answer the charge by September 20.

In a separate case, Robert Ora Weeks and his wife, Phyllis Imogean Weeks, Oakland, are seeking damages in the amount of $595,000 as the result of an auto accident which involved their auto and one driven by Mark David Cummins of Aurora, W. Va.

According to the file, the Weeks family was traveling east on the Glendale Road on Walsnovich was a passenger on March 11, 1983, when they had a head on collision with the Cummins vehicle, which was, according to the charge, being driven at a high speed in a careless and negligent manner. Damages are asked for loss of the auto, personal and mental injury and anguish, loss of work, medical and hospital expenses, and punitive damages. Mr. and Mrs. Weeks are being represented by Ralph Burnett.

HOW LENDERS JUDGE

YOUR BORROWING POWER When you apply for a mortgage, you may be shocked to be told by your banker that you don't qualify for quite as big a loan as you expected. The reason: Banks and other mortgage lenders have significantly tightened their requirements on credit-worthiness and income levels since the great mortgage crunch began in 1980. So what does it take to qualify for a mortgage, and what's the most you can expect to get? According to Michael G. Drew, marketing administration manager of Chemical Executive Relocation, a unit of Chemical Bank, you would qualify for a mortgage equal to twice your pretax annual income, based the "gross income formula.' Whether you get a mortgage vice. Basically, your banker wants to be assured that you will be able to repay the loan without difficulty. The bank's lending committee takes a look at all aspects of your creditworthiness: how much you earn, whether the money comes in dependably every month from salary and from sound investments, and whether you are likely to hold on to your job. The bankers assess your occu-occupational training. If you have changed jobs frequently with promotions, that's good. On the other hand, job hopping without advancement worries lenders. Borrowers with questionable employment histories must have off-setting financial strength to be acceptable for maximum financing.

As a rule of thumb, to determine whether you will be able to meet the expenses of home ownership, the guidelines establish ratios that compare your monthly income with your anticipated monthly housing expense and total monthly obligations. Monthly housing exloan at all depends on the pense is the sum of the bank's belief in your ability to prospective mortgage install-

Deep Creek Project

The Deep Creek Lake sewerage project was the topic of a special Sanitary Commission meeting called July 28.

According to Wendell Beitzel, sanitary district administrator. the special meeting was held because there was no quorum available at either of the two regularly scheduled meetings in July.

The commission is planning a meeting this Thursday of the lake sewerage project advisory group, which will advise the sanitary commission on the structure of user costs, fees, future connections, type of assessments, and equivalent use for multi-family developments such as trailer parks.

Members of the advisory group include Jeff Smith and Dorothy Leuba, as private citizens; Bob Blasingame, representing the Property Owners Association, and Ed Schofield, representing the Deep Creek Lake Business Association; Kelly Smith and Helmuth Heise, representing economic interest groups; and John Nelson, county zoning administrator, and Edgar Harmon, environmentalist with the county health department.

Governor Hughes Uses Anniversary License Plates

Governor Harry Hughes placed his 350th Maryland Anniversary commemorative license plates on his car this week and urged all Marylanders to participate in the 350th celebrations and to use the commemorative license plates "to promote our heritage."

Applications for the special commemorative license plates are available by contacting the Maryland Motor Vehicle Administration. The cost is $9.00 per set, $6.00 of which will be used by the Maryland Heritage Committee in funding the celebrations beginning this fall and continuing throughout 1984.

The Maryland Heritage Committee, appointed by Governor Hughes, is charged with the preparation of the 350th Anniversary celebrations. Chaired by General Orwin C. Talbott (USA retired), the Committee is in the process of organizing commemorative events across the State so that all Marylanders will have the opportunity to participate in the 350th Anniversary.

Household Employers Security Requirement

People who employ household workers should be aware of their responsibility to deduct Road Social Security taxes and to report the wages paid, Joseph E. Mieczkowski, Social Security district manager in Cumberland, said recently

An individual who pays a In Nursing Homes household worker-whether a maid, cook, gardener, or even a baby-sitter—at least $50 in cash during a calendar quarter must deduct Social Security taxes. Failure to do so may mean having to pay a penalty in addition the residents to communicate to the overdue taxes, he said. A calendar quarter is a three-month period that ends on March 31, June 30, September or December 31. 'Therefore,' Mieczkowski said, "the payment of wages that average as little as $4 a week would amount to more than $50 for a calendar quarter and would have to be reported." Additional information about Social Security and household employees may be obtained from any Social Security office or from the Internal Revenue Service Center for the State.

Abuse Posters To Be Displayed

Nursing homes and domiciliary care facilities throughout Maryland will be required to display a poster asking anyone suspecting abuse of with the Division of Licensing and Certification of the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, state or local police or the Maryland Office on

The Division is distributing the poster to more than 250 institutions in the state.

According to Harold Gordon, Director of the Division of Licensing and Certification, display of the abuse message is mandatory under a recently nassed state law

Anyone reporting suspected abuse in good faith is immune from civil liability, Mr. Gordon said. Phone numbers for making such reports include 383-2517 (Baltimore) or 1-800-492-6005 (toll free number) for the Division of Licensing and Certification, and 383-5064 (Baltimore) or 383-7555 (TTY line for the hearing impaired) for the Office on Aging.

Attorney General Joins Lawsuit Against DHHS

Attorney General Stephen H. Sachs filed a request recently in the U.S. District Court in Baltimore to join a class action lawsuit brought by the Maryland Legal Aid Bureau against the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services in an effort to halt the illegal cutoff of monthly federal disability payments to thousands of Marylanders.

According to Sachs' petition, the Department of Health and Human Services has discontinued disability benefits without actually considering whether a recipient's disabling condition had medically improved. The suit contends that in 1980 the Department abandoned a longstanding interpretation of the Social Security Act that allowed the termination of disability benefits only when medical improvement is shown. Sachs contends that this change in policy is in violation of the Social Security Act and the U.S. Constitution.

The Attorney General's request to join the suit is made on behalf of the State of Maryland, Department of Human Resources' Secretary Ruth Massinga, and Department of Health and Mental Hygiene's Secretary Charles R. Buck. The suit that the state seeks to file alleges that as a result of the unlawful terminations, many former recipients of federal disability benefits have been required to turn to the state for essential income and medical care. Consequently, the state has been harmed because it has been forced to cover the loss of federal monies by incurring substantially increased costs in its General Public Assistance (GPA) and Medical Assistance (MA) programs, according to the intervention complaint. which also was signed by Assistant Attorneys General Dennis M. Sweeney, Ellen A. Callegary and Nancy Shuger, and Staff Attorney Marlene

The state further alleges that between October 1980 and June 1983, approximately 4,000 Maryland residents had their social security disability benefits terminated by the Department of Health and Human Services under a standard which did not require an evaluation of improvement of their medical conditions. The state estimates that for as many as 2,000 of these persons there was no evidence of improvement in their medical conditions and therefore their benefits were terminated unlawfully.

In April of this year, Sachs testified before the U.S. Senate's Special Committee on Aging concerning the benefit termination practices of the Social Security Administration. At that time, he called for a Congressionally imposed moratorium on the termination of disability benefits for the mentally ill.

Statistics Noted By Comptroller

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced gasoline consumption during May, 1983, totaled 160,564,914 gallons, a 1.4% drop from the 162,920,667 gallons of gasoline used during the same month of Marylanders used more gasoline during six months of the Fiscal Year 1983 reporting period, compared with the tests. Topics were selected on same months of the prior year, while using less gasoline during

While there was no definite trend evident in the consumption figures, the Comptroller noted that price increases resulting from the nickel per gallon increase in the federal gasoline tax which became effective April 1, 1983, apparently caused consumption to drop during both April and May

Motor fuel tax revenue for Fiscal Year 1983 totaled $240,233,836, up nearly 26.8% over the $189,517,764, and within one-tenth of one percent of the revenue estimate for the period, according to Mr. Goldstein.

"The increase in motor fuel tax revenue is largely attributable to the motor fuel tax increase from 9¢ to 11¢ per gallon, enacted by the 1982 session of the Maryland General Assembly," Comptroller Goldstein said, noting that the second phase of the tax increase, which raised the tax rate to 131/2¢ per gallon, is not reflected in the Fiscal Year 1983

"Of the $240.2 million in motor fuel tax revenue collected during the fiscal year, nearly $65 million was distributed to Maryland's counties, cities and towns by the Department of Transportation. HEAT STRESS

Many people don't realize these conditions act to reduce how dangerous periods of high temperature and high humidity can be. This is especially true ing mechanism. for people who have certain medical conditions such as a heart condition, high blood pressure or problems with hypertension, any problems circulation. Generally, the with circulation, a previous burden of heat stress falls on stroke, overweight, diarrhea, the heart and the blood vessels, any skin disease or sunburn so anyone who has a weakness which may reduce sweating, inin those areas is especially fection or fever, and drinking vulnerable. Heat stress can be seen as a burden or weight on the body. In a hot environment the body defends itself against the heat in a very predictable way. First, the blood vessels on the skin's surface expand allowing more blood to rush to the skin's surface. Second, sweating occurs. These two mechanisms work together in defending the body against the heat. The blood close to the skin's surface off-loads heat to the environment. The sweat evaporates and removes the tremendous amount of heat that the blood vessels are bringing to the skin's surface.

A weak heart can limit the body's ability to cool because the heart must continually pump blood to the skin's surface. In addition, the sweating mechanism causes excess fluid to run through the blood stream, which places more strain on the heart. So, if you've got a weak or damaged heart, high blood pressure, poor circulation, diseased skin so you don't sweat as much as you used to, or if you don't have enough water in your body begetting used to hot weather. Serious signs are dangerous if you experience them and should be a definite cause for alarm. They include dizziness, a throbbing pressure in the head, chest pain, nausea with vomitting and diarrhea. When people experience these signs of heat stress, they usually have two or three at the same time. If they do occur, seek medical attention at once.

HARD HATS MAKES SENSE

They're not the most comfortable type of headgear, but they've become the badge of the construction industry. No good superintendent will let you step on his building site without one.

The idea of protecting ourselves against possible hazards is an ancient one. Through the centuries it has had its religious counterpart. The Bible urges us to put on the whole armor of God.

> Each week in our churches and synagogues we can prepare ourselves spiritually for the challenges tomorrow will bring. We can strengthen our souls to meet and overcome whatever dangers might one day confront us.

MOST BAD BREATH CAN BE CONTROLLED

Once considered an almost unmentionable subject. Once considered an almost unmentionable subject, bad breath is now more openly discussed. There are many possible causes of bad breath and therefore many different ways to control it. If it is a problem stemming from a condition in the mouth your dentist can suggest an effective method to lessen or even eliminate it. Certain mouthwashes and other products can be useful in everyday care. Other causes of bad breath can come from the stomach or lungs and in some cases has been related to emotional stress. Once the cause has been determined a way can usually be found to stop it. Do not be afraid to discuss bad breath with your physician or dentist.

'Manimal' is minimum: Action aids 'A-Team'

By Peter Meade

Whatever happened to animal shows like "Lassie" and "Mr. Ed"?

Animal adventures for the 1983-1984 season include NBC's "Mr. Smith," an orangutan with an Einstein-ish IQ and "Manimal," about a man who can turn himself into various animals. NBC hopes it can turn itself into a hit series, but I'd say "Manimal"

CBS and NBC obviously disagree in their strategy about the new shows. NBC is making noise about how they are including more chuckles in their new programs.

Although impressionist Fred Travalena is known for his comedy, he also has a serious side. He's very much involved in the cause of American Vietnam POWs. ## SOAP OPERA WEEK

Walters on 'Loving'; Shipp's 50-foot ship

By Kimberly Redmond

Susan Walters is making her television acting debut as the wealthy, snobbish troublemaker Lorna Forbes in ABC's new soap "Loving."

Miss Walters grew up in Chamblee, a suburb of Atlanta Ga, where she began modeling for department stores during her senior year in high school. She postponed attending the University of Georgia to continue working. Upon deciding to move to New York City last year, she signed with the Elite Modeling Agency and soon after she began taking acting classes. She has done a number of television commercials.

'I love Lorna," says Miss Walters of her "Loving" role. "She comes out and says things I only think about saying.

Catherine Mary Stewart (Kayla Brady) of "Days of Our Lives" is one busy woman career-wise. Miss Stewart recently completed filming a role in the upcoming sci-fi film "The Last Starfighter" and was immediately signed to do a role in the upcoming film "Casa Grande." It will be filmed in St. George, Utah, and stars Robert Mitchum. Upon her return to Los Ange les, she was signed to appear in an episode of NBC's "Night which stars David Rider. #### Sentinel Birth Defects Law To Go Into Effect

Maryland Secretary of Health and Mental Hygiene Adele Wilzack announced last week that the Sentinel Birth Defect Law passed by the legislature in 1982 will go into effect by September 1, 1983, in all 40 maternity hospitals, including Garrett County Memorial Hospital, and birthing centers in the State.

Secretary Wilzack said that the new legislation creates one of the most extensive birth defect registries in the nation and will help determine whether environmental hazards contribute to birth defects. Dr. Neil Holtzman of the Division of Hereditary Disorders, which is responsible for organizing the system, said it will provide health officials with data about the number, type and geographical distribution of birth defects in the community.

Max Eisenberg, Ph. D., who directs the Science and Health Advisory Group in the Office of Environmental Programs, will be responsible for data compilation and relating the birth defects data to other Maryland registries. Analysis of registry data should help answer questions raised by recent news stories about whether birth defects are increasing.

Dr. Holtzman said that another major purpose of the for the network. law is to provide an information network to assist parents in receiving materials and help with their children who have birth defects. Parents can return a confidential post card or call a 24 hour telephone number to obtain more information. Materials have been gathered to help families in the areas of financial assistance, educational opportunities, finding medical services, locating parent support groups and securing services from the local Departments of Health. Physicians will be asked to supply parents of newborns

"Special Information about Special Babies," telling the parents how to obtain more information.

Looking Forward, A Guide for Parents of Children with Disabilities, a publication of the Maryland Developmental Disabilities Council, will distributed to hospitals, as well as the brochure.

Some of the birth defects which hospitals will be required to report include: anencephaly (small head); spina bifida; hydrocephaly (large head); cleft palate; total cleft lip; esophageal atresia and stenosis; and congenital dislocation of the hip.

A six month follow-up to parents requesting information is planned so that the system can be improved and also to give the families more information which may be helpful to

Two Birth Defects Advisory Committees, appointed by Secretary of Health and Mental Hygiene, have met regularly. One, consisting of physicians, hospital representatives and epidemiologists, help develop the reporting system. The other, made up of parents of children with birth defects, educators, health professionals, and representatives of Health and Mental Hygiene, Developmental Disabilities Council, and the Department of Education, Division of Special Education, wrote the brochure, "Special Information about Special Babies," and gathered material

White Is BPW Convention Rep

Pat White represented the Garrett County Business and Lung Association Professional Women's Club July 24-28 as a delegate to the Slates Program BPW national convention in Columbus, Ohio.

Foremost in the action taken by the 1,300 voting delegates and 3,000 in attendence was the change in the name of the national organization to 'Business and Professional Women, U.S.A." to be known as 'BPW USA."

There were members in attendance from all 50 states, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, and 16 foreign countries. The latter were here also to attend the International Business and Professional Women's Convention in Washington, D.C. July 30 through August 1.

The National Foundation was the recipient of some large donations totaling over $25,000, to be used for loans and grants to train women who have been out of the work force and wish to return or women who want to advance their education to further

The BPW Political Action Committee sent over 5000 telegrams to the members of Congress to urge the passage of ERA. #### ARC Approves Appalachian Jobs

Training Program

The Appalachian Regional Commission, meeting Aug. 1 in conjunction with a meeting of the National Governors Association in Portland, Maine, unanimously approved a resolution implementing recommendations from the Commission's April conference on Jobs and Skills for the Future, including approval of a $1 million fund to help the 13 Appalachian states, including Maryland, improve their jobs training and education programs.

Money provided by the new fund, which will be drawn from ARC's current appropriation from Congress, will be matched by a like amount from the states' regular ARC allocations, forming a pool of up to $2 million for new ARC projects in the jobs training and education field.

In a separate action, the Appalachian Governors elected States' Cochairman of the Commission.

The new jobs training and Virginia's fair this week education fund approved last week would be available to the Commission's 13 member states to undertake technical assistance and demonstration ference focused on problems projects in such areas as strengthening private sector the impact of foreign comparticipation in training and education, improving the dissemination of labor market Appalachia is especailly sensiinformation, and improving the tive to this impact because of quality of worker education or

KIM AND KARMEN REID are following in their father's footsteps as they provide vocal country music entertainment this Saturday night at the Garrett County Fair. The two young ladies are daughters of Harold Reid, bass singer for the Statler Brothers, and have worked as a duet since 1981, touring to perform shows in their native Staunton, Va., as well as in Ohio, Virginia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, and Maryland. The singers and their band, the Southern Rhythm Band, will give two shows at the fairgrounds, Saturday at 7 and 9 p.m. Kim began displaying her musical abilites at the age of 17 when she gave a Governor Harry R. Hughes of song she had written to her father for his opinion, and then the Maryland to serve as the 1984 Statler Brothers recorded it. White Unveils Underwear To Emphasize Point

A sense of humor enlivened a segment of the Oakland town council meeting Aug. 1 when a resident apparently decided that "shock" tactics would get the best results.

Mr. and Mrs. Max White and John White informed the council of a two-fold problem with their water. First of all, in light of problems occurring over the past five years, the two families had been promised new water lines. These had not come about so two years ago they had been promised that their bills would remain at a flat rate until the situation was cor-

Spokesman John White said he was therefore surprised to receive a bill for $94 for the past quarter. And he was very disappointed to note that the situation had never been corrected.

To demonstrate his point, he reached into a small brown paper bag and removed a pair of his underwear, washed only that day and now a disgusting overall light brown.

His gesture brought laughter from all present but also definitely demonstrated his point and water chairman Von Johnson asked for a water nology industries will provide a sample for the health departsmall but significant part of ment to help present the town's case for a state grant to help with line rehabilitation. He also will continue to be found in promised to talk with White over his latest water bill.

One councilman, James Evans, was not at a loss for words and after his inital gasp of laughter, advised White that a local hardware store sells a product which will "take those rust stains right out of there."

Wrong Councilman

It was incorrectly reported in last week's edition of The Republican that Oakland Councilman Robert Boal made a motion August 1 to rescind a previous action of the council.

The rescind motion was made by Councilman Terry Helbig and seconded by Mayor H.B.

Boal's motion was that the ouncil request an immediate meeting with state officials to discuss the current status of the Oakland sewerage project and Councilman Von Johnson and

The Nutrition Committee of the American Heart Association has prepared a series of articles providing information and recipes for healthier diets. Another of those articles, supplied by Wendy Norris, dietician for the Garrett County Memorial Hospital and a member of the commmitte, is as follows:

The Nutrition Education Committee of the American Heart Assocation is featuring a Sunday brunch this month. In olden times, breakfast was an elaborate meal prepared and eaten after starting the day's labor. Breakfast was big and hearty because of the hard work performed.

Nowadays, we do not work as hard physically as our ancestors. As a result, some people cut back on breakfast to decrease calories, but breakfast is the one meal we should continue to eat regularly. The experts suggest that one-fourth of the day's calories be consumed at breakfast. A nutritious breakfast does not mean "bacon and eggs' every day. The Heart Association recommends no more than three eggs per week per person. As an alternative, try "Applesauce Toast" as part of your breakfast. This could be part of the Sunday brunch or a "quickie breakfast" for weekdays.

Applesauce Toast 1 Tablespoon margarine 11/2 Tablespoons sugar 1 cup applesauce Cinnamon and Nutmeg to taste 4 slices bread (Whole Wheat or Sprouted Wheat bread is best)*

Melt margarine and combine with sugar, applesauce, cinnamon and nutmeg. Spread some of mixture on each bread slice and toast it in the oven or under the broiler. Yield: 4 servings

Approx. Cal./Serv.: 160 *If a soft white bread is used, toast on one side before spreading mixture on the other side.

The Heart Association cookbook is packed with recipes lower in fat and cholesterol than traditional recipes. The above recipe comes from that cookbook. If you would like your own personal copy, order one from Wendy Wakefield RD. 334-2155.

Permission Needed To Remove Stored Grain Under Loan

ASCS William B. Crum, chairman of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee says farm-stored grain under loan, including grain designated for the payment-in-kind program, must not be removed without permission.

"Grain under regular or reserve loan is mortgaged and if it is removed before repayment of the loan or receipt of release authorization, it is considered unauthorized removal and subject to penalty," he said. The penalty consists of immediate repayment of the loan, plus interest, plus early redemption, if applicable, denial of further loans and possible investigation by the Office of the Inspector General.

Some farmers will use their farm-stored grain loans to satisfy payment-in-kind requirements. Crum said if farmers move the grain without permission they will be as- farmers are fully responsible sessed liquidated damages according to the terms of the PIK contract as well as the regular penalty for unauthorized removal of farm-stored

The ASCS price support loan program provides farmers with operating cash while they bargain or hold their grain for future sales. Variable interest rates are charged and farmers may repay the money before the nine-month maturity date. Program regulations require that farmers notify ASCS if they intend to sell the grain, or if the grain is out of condition and needs to be moved.

If the grain is to be used for feed, the loan must be repaid before it is removed from the storage bin.

The ASCS official said

GARRETT Cooperative Extension Service FARM-O-GRAM

Jim Simms, Extension Agent, Agricultural Science FARM-O-GRAM

Will You Lose Stored Grain to Insects? If you spent some time before harvesting to protect storage bins and then monitor them on regular basis you can greatly reduce losses from insect feeding. Before a load of grain is put into storage it would be wise that a thorough cleanup be undertaken inside and outside the storage bins. Weeds around the bin need to be killed because they provide a home and nourishment for certain insects. Clearing the refuse also prevents rodents from becoming a problem. Methoxychlor or premium grade Malathion should be sprayed on every piece of machinery in which grain is going to be harvested or moved. The equipment can harbor insect buildups. Also special attention should be given to the inside of the bins making sure that the spray reaches in all cracks and crevices. Protective measures are also needed when bins are being filled with grain. Most growers rely upon Malathion as the principal ingredient. The ideal stiuation is for the insecticide to be applied as the grain is being put into the bins. The top four to eight inches of grain should be sprayed with Dipel for moth control. Check your stored grain weekly

Japanese Beetles - On The Prowl

The adult Japanese beetle is now hatching from the grub stage. I don't believe the population is as great as last year; however, there is still enough of them around to do considerable damage to the leaves of plants. Some of their favorite foods are fruit trees, grapes, rose bushes, corn silk and small fruit bushes. The insecticide called Sevin does a good job of killing the adult beetle. Repeated application may be needed particularly after a rain has washed the insecticide from the leaf. For long range control I would suggest using "Milky Disease Spores" which is a bacteria that attacks the beetle in the grub stage while it is in the soil. This biological control material will give you several years of protection. In most instances the beetle grub only lives in sodded areas such as pastures and lawns.

Operation Maryland Haylift

If you have hay or straw that you would like to sell you can have a free source of advertisement through the Maryland Department of Agriculture Havlift Program. Send your name, address and phone number along with the variety of hay and the number of bales to Thomas L. Butler, Marketing Specialist, Maryland Department of Agriculture, 40 Harry S. Anyone interested in attending the University of Maryland Research Field Day on Tuesday, August 23, at the Wye Research Education Center, Queenstown, Md. can contact me for additional information. There are several items of interest such as small grains variety trials and high yield management research, field corn variety trials, fertility experiments, tillage practices, weed control and insect management. There is also a home economics program for the ladies.

FANNIE MAE

If you've ever listened in on a conversation among Realtors, builders, mortgage brokers, or bankers, you may have heard the name Mae'' "Fannie mentioned. No, it's not a pancake mix or a brand of bread. If refers to a government agency subsidized and chartered by the U.S. government. The full name of the agency is Federal National Mortgage Association and it has been in existence for close to forty years. Fannie Mae functions as a secondary mortgage market, which consists of organizations that buy mortgages from firms that originate them. Fannie Mae offers to buy FHA-insured and ************* VA guaranteed mortgages from lending institutions that are in need of cash. This has 2 the effect of making these types of mortgages negotiable, thus, very desirable. This is, in effect, a type of support program.

Urban renewal, lowcost housing, and other kinds of FHA programs are often supported by Fannie Mae with that organization buying the mortgages at their face value. Some builders, as a matter of fact, "tailor" their building activities so that Fannie Mae will buy

FFA Alumni Plans Trip August 24

The Oakland FFA Alumni met August 1 at the Southern High School vo-ag building, with president Roy Sanders presiding. Lee Shillingburg, fair board president, spoke to the group about plans for the exhibitor parking and weighing of livestock at the county fair.

Plans were also finalized for the trip to Ag Progress Days at Penn State's research farm August 24. Anyone interested in participating can contact Roy or Catherine Sanders at 334-4580 or check in at the alumni table in the beef barn at the county fair for complete details.

Smaller Harvest Is Expected

Production of oats, barley, wheat, rye and apples are expected to be smaller in 1983.

Farmers are expected to harvest 5.04 million bushels of wheat this summer, down 18 percent from 1982. Acreage dropped 16,000 acres and the yield is off three bushels.

Barley production is forecast at 5.16 million bushels, 10 percent below 1982. Acreage for harvest is 8,000 acres below 1982 and yields averaging 58 bushels per acre are down one bushel.

Oats output of .90 million bushels is 19 percent below 1982. A decline of 3,000 acres and two bushels per acre are the reason. Potato production should total 328,000 cwt., unchanged from 1982.

A good peach crop is expected to total 22 million pounds, but apple production is expected to drop to 77 million pounds this

Acreage Down

The acreage of most crops planted in 1983 in Maryland decreased from last year.

Corn acreage is off 13 percent, at 650,000 acres, the smallest acreage planted since 1974. Corn for grain amounts to 550,000 acres, down 17 percent. Soybean acreage planted totaled 365,000 acres, 11 percent below last year's record.

Barley acreage was down nine percent while oats acreage was at a record low. Winter wheat was off six percent.

parts amounted to $300,000. Commissioner Elwood Groves pointed out the roads department historically has replaced equipment except in the past few years when no money was available. The commissioners also noted the operating costs of the roads department have declined over the past few years and the department's budget has been reduced by 11 percent since 1981, or by $612,629. The commissioners also calculated the work force productivity has increased by 30 percent in the past two years. Continued on Page 4

Police Searching For Two Escapees

West Virginia law enforcement officers are combing the area near Davis for two men who escaped from the minimum security Davis Center for Boys Tuesday night about midnight. The K-9 unit from Huttonsville Correctional Center was expected to begin searching the area about 10

The two men are prisoners from the Huttonsville Center who were in Davis on a woodcutting detail and both were trusties. The alert has spread to Maryland because authorities first believed they would head for the state line, but a possible sighting in Davis had attention concentrated there this morn-

There was also a report to state police of a vehicle tampering incident in Davis but no vehicles had been reported stolen, so the two are believed to be still on foot. According to Mr. Dunzel, superintendent of the Davis Center, the two escapees are both white males. Terry Jones, 23, is five feet, nine and one-half inches tall, weighs 155 pounds and has brown eyes and black hair. Lance Lewis, 24, is described as six feet, three inches tall, weighing 230 pounds with brown eyes and black hair. Jones, considered to be potentially dangerous, has served eight years of a five to 18-year sentence for second degree murder. Lewis has served one and a half years of a one to tenyear sentence for forgery.

Both men fled the center in prison khaki uniforms.

Construction of the Kitzmiller water system will probably be delayed now until next spring, reports Wendell Beitzel, Sanitary District administrator. Beitzel made the comment following a public hearing last Thursday on the system, which proposes an impoundment on Wolf Den Run to supply the town's water needs. Although Beitzel said it was clearcut from the comments that the town should proceed with the system, several negative comments were heard. These were concerned about the town's proposed use of an ad valorem tax to repay the local portion of the costs, and fear that during dry seasons, the

Wolf Den stream may dry up. Chief spokesman against the ad valorem method, which bases an annual charge on the assessed value of the property, was Dr. Ralph Calandrella. It has already been decided between the town and the Sanitary Commission, however, to use this method of repayment. For those homeowners eligible for a tax credit, this will not mean any additional charge to them as this would be covered under the homeowners' credit pro-

Grant Application

Members of the Downtown Businessmen's Association are trying to persuade the town Housing and Urban Development (HUD) Community Development grant which would finance improvements in According to Gerald Beachy, the town and begin a low interest loan program for merchants That subject was the chief topic of discussion at a meeting last Tuesday of the merchants' association and Terry Helbig, town councilman. The town's lack of a motion killed the possiblity of seeking the $800,000 grant June 20.

Helbig asked the local merchants to prepare lists of improvements they would like to see, and he will submit these to the town for possible reconsideration. One idea he definitely vetoed was that of a park downtown, pointing out additional police protection would place a burden on the town's police force. One member suggested that the sidewalk sale be moved forward a week, to the last week in July, but this was opposed by the majority. President Jack Jones suggested the possibility of an antique car show in conjunction with a special sale, but no definite action was taken. The group agreed not to DNR Officer sponsor a town-wide back to school sale this year.

Gunshot Victim Released Monday

Four-year-old Paul Brandon Frantz, son of Paul and Debbie Frantz, Deer Park, was released from Memorial Hospital in Cumberland on Monday to continue recuperation at home following a gunshot wound, which he received in a freak accident on August 2.

The child was shot while riding in a vehicle with his father along the Bumble Bee Road in McHenry. A bullet from a .357 magnum handgun being used by 18-year-old Larry Clinton Reams, Accident, who was reportedly shooting target in a wooded area near the road, entered the vehicle through an open window and stuck the child

The boy was flown to Memorial Hospital in Cumberland by the state police Medevac helicopter, where he was listed in critical condition for some time.

Detective Sgt. John W McGowan, head of the investigation, said that the department is awaiting the results of further tests before turning all reports over to the Garrett County State's Attorney Jim Sherbin, who will then determine what, if any charges will be filed against Reams.

Body Found Tuesday At Mining Site

West Virginia State Police are continuing an extensive investigation at a strip mine site in Tucker County, near the Maryland town of Kempton, where an unidentified human body was found Tuesday after-

According to a news release from the state police headquarters at Parsons, the remains were discovered by a Davis Trucking Company enplovee as he was running a piece of equipment. The body apparently had been dropped down an abandoned mine shaft some months ago.

State police and the West Virginia medical examiner gathered the remains and transported them to the West Virginia medical center for a post mortem examination and identification. A positive identification is expected to take at least a week.

Various sources had indicated that the body was of a heavy-set male, wearing a hooded sweatshirt and wrapped in plastic but authorities would not confirm these details until the post mortem is conducted.

Moratorium Set On Dock Permits

A moratorium limiting the number and type of boat dock permits to be issued at Deep Creek Lake was placed in effect Monday by the Department of Natural Resources Secretary at the request of the Deep Creek Lake Advisory and Review Committee.

Earlier this month, the committee proposed the moratorium to DNR Secretary Torrev Brown, saying it was essential if long-term regulations governing lake use can be developed.

Lake administrator Gary Yoder stated Monday the moratorium was only a temporary measure until the new regulations could be developed.

moratorium with the stipulation it be lifted on July 1, 1984, giving the committee a little over 10 months to complete their work.

The moratorium prohibits new dock permits on back lots with deeded lake access and permits for any new commercial establishments, for any lot with less than 30 feet of shoreline, dock expansions and any dock facility permitting no more than three vessels. Yoder described the moratorium as "just calling a time out until we get regulations on the books that set reasonable criteria by which the lake will be developed over the next few years." At the same time the advisory committee is developing its regulations, the Garrett County Planning Commission will be working to update the land use plan in the Deep Creek Lake drainage basin, which is part of their update of the county plan begun several years ago. The two groups will coordinate their work with each other as well as with a lake sewerage task force.

The Planning Commission plans to work through September on the update and then take a break until spring in order to allow lake summer residents an opportunity to participate in the policy decisions.

Clifford Earl Welch, 46, Oakland, was treated and since released from Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where he was taken by the State Police Medevac helicopter on Wednesday morning after the tractortrailer rig he was operating struck the rear end of another rig that was making a left turn off Rt. 40 toward Shipway's Truck Stop on Polish Mountain. The accident occurred about 10

Immediately following the accident, Welch was trapped in the wreckage. According to reports, Ronald Ken Shipway, 26, Flintstone, son of the Shipway establishment owner and a registered Emergency Medical Technician, climbed into the cab and administered aid to the injured man while Flintstone volunteer ambulance workers used a Hurst extricating tool to free the victim. The driver of the second rig and a passenger in that truck were treated and released at Memorial for injuries they received in the collision. Charges are pending in that accident.

A Friday evening accident sent a McHenry man to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment following a motorcycle accident on Rt. 48. According to the report, the driver, Steven Russell, was traveling east on Rt. 48 and was in the process of passing other eastbound traffic when he lost control of his bike, went off the right shoulder of the road, and rolled over several times. He was treated and released at

A 20-year-old Swanton woman. Bonnie Lynn Wilt Miller, remains in the intensive care unit in fair condition following a Friday morning accident on U.S. 219, near Red House.

Two More Rabid Raccoons Reported

Garrett County's confirmed rabies cases now number 13, with the addition of two more raccoons the first week of August. All the previous cases were in raccoons with the exception of one cat.

The 12th case was confirmed August 2 after a coon attacked a dog at the Rodney Shafer property in Pleasant Valley. That dog has been revaccinated and will be confined for 90 days to determine if rabies has been contracted. The 13th rabid raccoon attacked two dogs on a property along Route 135 at Deer Park, and both dogs have been destroyed as a result of the encounter.

The health department is still sending in several brain samples to the state laboratory for analysis each day but no new cases have been confirmed

Accident Sets 59-Cent Tax

The mayor and council of Accident recently set the town's property tax rate at 59 cents per $100 assessed valuation, in compliance with the state's constant yield tabulations.

Last year's rate was 65 cents, several years was 75 cents per At Garrett To

The town anticipates a total of Begin Sept. 7 $66,200 in revenues for the 1983-84 fiscal year, with $10,000 from real property taxes: $7,000 in personal property tax; and $1,500 in public utility taxes, and the remainder from state and federal sources such as the highway user tax.

Federal revenue sharing is anticipated at $1,500, to be placed in the general funds, according to Marjorie Fratz, town clerk.

Among the anticipated expenditures are some $10,000 for renovation work on the exterior of the town garage; $12,000 for purchase of a fourwheel drive vehicle with snowplow for street clearing; and $7,600 for the local share of Phase I of the Program Open Space project at Accident park (see separate story).

The town keeps water and sewer revenues in a separate account, and revenues are expected to total $55,566, $39,000 from user fees and the remainder from miscellaneous sources. Expenditures for that sum will include $17,500 to the Maryland Environmental Services for operation of the sewerage treatment plant.

Itilities are expected to cost $8,000, and notes payable are $18,400. The remainder will be used for supplies, etc.

Grantsville Sets 87 Cent Tax Rate

The town of Grantsville has announced a tax rate of 87 cents per $100 of assessed valuation for the 1983-84 fiscal year, according to clerk Gloria Martin. The rate is in compliance with state requirements for the constant yield rate, and three cents less than last year.

The property tax rate is expected to produce $41,500 of the $143,658.12 general operation budget, with the remainder from state and federal funds, trader's license fees, etc. The largest source from the state is the highway user fund, which is expected to provide the town with $18,000.

Federal revenue sharing is anticipated at $4,800, to be spent on water improvements.

The town has already purchased a four-wheel drive vehicle with snowplow for $11,000 to begin the year's expenditures. The amount to be spent for street repairs is being held because of the work to be done on the town's sewer system, which will leave streets to be repaired. Water and sewer revenues are expected to amount to $10,000 each from user fees, and nearly all that amount is to be spent on general maintenance.

One More Shot . . .

Last week we used this column to advocate stricter control of handguns (as one who missed it might have guessed by reading today's letters to the editor). We also made a few mild criticisms of the National Rifle Association for being such staunch opponents of all forms of gun control

We will fire one more shot at the NRA this week for its opposition to another related piece of legislation that has been introduced in Congress. The bill is called the Law Enforcement Officers Protection Act (S. 555 and H.R. 953) which would ban a relatively new type of armor-piercing bullet, commonly referred to as the cop-killer bullet.

The bullet makes all presently used bulletproof vests, including the one worn by President Reagan, absolutely worthless. In recent ballistics tests this bullet pierced four standard bulletproof vests and five Los Angeles telephone directories. The tefloncoated projectile also penetrated one and one-half inches of cold-rolled steel. Three household walls and a door would not be enough protection against this bullet. This commodity is now available on the street and two law officers in Florida have already been killed by them.

The bill, which will outlaw the manufacture, sale and distribution of the cop-killer bullet, is sponsored by Senator Daniel Moynihan and Congressman Mario Biaggi, a former police officer who was wounded not once or twice, but ten times while on Fighting hard to defeat the bill is the milliondollar lobbying team of NRA, which claims, "There's no such thing as a bad or good bullet." The NRA is concerned that any regulation, even of something as dangerous as the cop-killer bullet, would open the door to an ultimate ban on handguns.

For once, many members of the NRA are divided on this issue. Nearly every police organization, including the Fraternal Order of Police, the International Association of Chiefs of Police, the International Brotherhood of Police Officers, and the National Association of Police Organizations, have endorsed this bill. Eight states have already passed legislation outlawing the cop-killer bullet; however, Maryland is not among them.

Cards and letters from thousands of constituents endorsing this measure can make the difference on whether or not Congress passes it. The recent withdrawal of the withholding law on savings accounts proves that the general public can force changes in the law.

We strongly urge passage of Senate Bill 555 and House Bill 953 and penalties, I've openly advocated the expanded DWI Enforcement Program currently in effect by the Maryland State Police. I firmly believe in sobriety checkpoints, stiffer fines, and incarceration as substantial deterrents in the fight against the loss of 25,000 lives per year which result from drinking and driving.

This week's announcement, however, concerning the "Determination of Alcohol Source" program is waving a small red flag in the general direction of effective deterrents.

The program, which began August 1, proposes questions to the arrested individual concerning where he obtained his alcohol and/or where he consumed it.

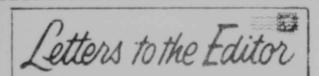

The object, so say the officials, is to identify restaurants, taverns, or packaged goods stores that may possibly be serving already intoxicated patrons. Up to that point, the idea is workable. Those individuals who knowingly sell to already intoxicated persons should have to pay the piper; however, isn't it pushing it just a bit when a package store is named as a place of origin?

Does this mean that if one is overweight, one's grocer should be warned that no more food may be sold to the obese customer? If one takes the family car to the service center, has all systems checked, and drives away from home, family, and responsibility, does that mean that gasoline station owners must no longer sell supplies?

The plan has workable facets, and it's easy enough to see where the police are trying to go, but the route, in its present form, is a little rocky. Hypothetically speaking, suppose Mr. X is falling down drunk, and sends another party into Joe Blow's liquor store to make a purchase. If the liquor is later traced back to Mr. Blow, is this newest twist saying the drinker's problem also belongs to Mr. Blow? That doesn't make sense

Perhaps the Pikesville contingent could go back to the drawing boards on this one. There's probably no more significant thing to highway safety than the recent attention to drinking drivers, but it's most important that the tail does not wag the dog.

To the Editor:

Judging from your editorial of August 10, 1983, it apparently takes little courage to sit at a desk, hiding behind a newspaper for the purpose of criticizing gun owners and the NRA. #### Deadly Bottleneck

by Harry Fox

One of the most difficult tasks imaginable has to be undertaking the repair of a section of highway while the road remains use. In addition to the obvious problems of traffic management, there are dangers to the road crews and the challenge of taking something apart while hundreds of motorists must still drive on

Having recognized the difficulties, it still is unlikely that the State Highway Administration will win any applause for the manner in which the Bear Creek crossing on U. S. 219 is being

It is to be admitted that the structure's location is horrible-that traffic in both directions must come upon an unexpected stop at the bottom of a steep hill. Visibility is nil.

There is no readily available route to use for a detour. The only choice that could be made appears to be the method selected-closing a portion of the bridge and using the remaining lane for traffic in both directions.

The result is a deadly bottleneck of which motorists should be wary. Safe use of the crossing is totally dependent on prudent driving, and observing the warning signs that have been erected. Neither the cross-country trucker nor the Sunday afternoon motorist can afford to daydream while descending the steep slopes of Keysers Ridge

With the opening of schools just around the corner the opportunity for horrifying tragedy is close at hand. Dozens of buses loaded with county youth have no other route to use in shuttling their human payloads to and from Northern Middle and High Schools. One careless driver of a truck, car or bus is all that is needed to create a grotesque nightmare involving a shattered bus and broken bodies.

The problems caused by this necessary repair work point out a major failing of our region's road network. The southern portions of the county are almost totally reliant on U. S. 219 as the only major artery for entering or leaving the area.

Local drivers, of course, know and use several back routes to get to and from Route 48, but most can ill afford any increase in the traffic they now carry

Looking into a crystal ball is always hazardous. But, it takes very little prognostication to see that better connecting routes to U. S. 48 are needed now-and that failure to provide them will certainly be painful in the years to come.

Criticism

In discussing recent criticism of the commissioners' bid awards to some companies out of the county, Commissioner Groves summed up the commissioners' feelings by asking, "Are we going to buy what people have to sell or what will best suit our needs? We believe the utility truck crashed bid specifications should stiputhrough the side of the Speeney late what will best meet our trailer into the sleeper area, but requirements. Those who can best meet our minimum standards will be the successful low bidder.'

The commissioners met last week with members of the Oakland New Car Dealers' Association who were concerned over the commissioners bid award process.

Their complaints were there had been no pre-bid conference for the most recent bids, the bid specifications had been built McHenry. Accident firemen around a specific brand, were sent to the scene by Gar- making it hard for other dealers

None of those present at that meeting had submitted bids for the most recent solicitation for the roads department.

The commissioners said they will attempt to have pre-bid conferences for all bid competitions in the future. The commissioners pointed out Tuesday they saved almost $6,000 on the recent bid award for 10 dump trucks by purchasing them from a Hagerstown firm rather than from county dealers. Also included in the discussion on the expenditures of the county roads department was the commissioners' praise of the paving work now in progress on several county roads.

The commissioners inspected several roads Tuesday and said they were very impressed with the work being done.

Noting their goal to have all county roads paved in the future, the commissioners stated the paving program has been in high gear this year because of excellent weather and available money. They also noted that several of the roads have been upgraded in the past two years to prepare them for paving. Included in the upgrading work was grading, building up an adequate base and installing proper drainage.

Fair Week Has One Rainy Evening

The minute amounts of precipitation received by the mountaintop during the past week were welcome, but not quite what the doctor ordered for low water tables. Fairgoers had only one evening of rain.

This county is one of the isolated pockets in the state which has received some rainfall while the majority has had searing heat, high humidity and cloudless skies. Some counties may be looking at the lowest agricultural yields ever, and are already talking about 20 to 30 percent potential reductions in yield. This county had a high temperature this past week of 83, noted Tuesday, and a nippy reminder of fall in the overnight low temperature Saturday of 41 degrees. Weather statistics are from Weber's near Oakland.

High last Wednesday was 82 degrees. High Thursday was 81 after the overnight low of 55, and some .16 of an inch of rain was noted. Rain continued early Friday, bringing an additional .10 of an inch and the high was only 68 degrees after the preceding night's drop to 55.

Temperatures warmed again Saturday, which had a high of 70 after a drop of 48. Sunday was a little warmer, bringing a high of 73 after the week's low temperatures.

Low Sunday night was 42, and high Monday 78 degrees. The

by Margo Vandiver, Council Member

"The Education of A Town Councilmember." There's much to learn! Even after 18 years of schooling I knew precious little about sewerage and water systems which are not only facts of our daily lives, but necessary systems which a town must manage for its residents. These are only two major areas among others such as zoning, recreational facilities, budgeting, and grants which need addressing and study before one develops an understanding of the town government.

Kathy Paugh, town clerk (the title is very inadequate in describing Kathy's duties and abilities), helping me to literally get my feet wet, set up a meeting with Mr. Raymond Welch, Waste Water Superintendent of the Garrett County Sanitary Commission. Soon Kathy, George Welling, the dean of councilmembers, and I were following Mr. Welch through the Trout Run Treatment sewage processing plant for Mountain Lake Park. We saw the wet room (yes, folks, it's all in there), the lifters, lagoons and chlorine tank. And gradually for me the light began to dawn, thanks to Mr. Welch's patience and explanation.

I now understand why it is important to minimize rain water from filling sewer lines. The plant's capacity is designed to handle routine sewage treatment, not a deluge of rain water. It all must be treated the same way-good and polluted alike. So thank you Mr. Welch-I'm looking forward to part II of the tour so we can continue my education in the town's "internal" affairs.

County Teachers Attend Leadership long meetings on membership Training Session

Four Garrett County teachers will be among leaders of local teachers associations across the state meeting this week at St. Mary's College in Southern Maryland for their annual leadership training institute sponsored by the Maryland State Teachers Association.

The five-day workshop features schools in local leadership and organizing; political action (I & II); contract enforcement processes; negotiations (beginners and advanced) and membership promotion. Mini-sessions are held on teacher stress, discipline, women's rights, public relations and the teachers image, and federal/state relations including funding levels and education legislative actions.

A special statewide membership project training session will be held Tuesday and Wednesday for local membership coordinators. This will be the second in a series of yearpromotion and retention. Each local affiliate will be participating in an intensive campaign this fall and throughout the school year.

Bernie Deal, past president of ACTA, Ed Dawson, first vicepresident of ACTA and Tom Shaffer, UNISERV Director for Allegany and Garrett counties are attending this session.

Marianne Green, teacher at Broad Ford Elementary in Garrett County, is representing the Garrett County Teachers Association as local membership coordinator and will also attend the two-day session on membership as well as the week-long workshop.

Other county teachers attending the MSTA workshop this week are Betty White, GCTA President, Keith Harvey, GCTA Executive Board member and Cheryl Henderson; former GCTA Secretary and now Grievance Coordinator for the BENEFIT TOURNEY SLATED — The Mt. Top Softball League will sponsor an open tournament August 26-28 with all proceeds from the event going to the family of P. Brandon Frantz, four-year-old son of Paul and Debbie Frantz, who was critically injured by a stray bullet nearly two weeks ago. Ten teams have already signed up to compete in the event, according to Mike Reamy, league representative, who said that as many teams as possible will be accepted for the tourney. The drawing for pairings and release of information as to the location of the tournament games will be held on August 24. The entry fee is $50. Reamy also said that persons are needed to assist in running concession stands at the games. There will be no admission charged for spectators. In the above photo, Reamy, center, accepts an entry fee from Rick Shaffer, representing the Shaffer Ford Old Sox team. At right is Don Savage, manager of the Old Sox. Persons interested in registering a team in the tournament may contact Reamy at 334-2121 (work), or 334-4751 after six p.m. Brandon Frantz returned to his home on Monday and is making "excellent progress" according to latest reports.

Water Skiing Championship Set This Weekend

The Western Maryland Slalom and Barefoot championship water skiing competition will be held this weekend, August 20 and 21, at the Mc-Henry Cove, Deep Creek Lake.

Competitions in trick skiing, starts, and wake crossing for both slalom and barefoot skiers will be conducted. Divisions will be provided for boys aged 0-16 years; Men's I for those aged 17-26 years; and Men's II for those over 27 years. A women's and an open division are also planned. Plaques and trophies will be awarded to the winners of each

To participate or for more information contact Ed Scofield at P.O. Box 26, McHenry or call 387-5581

The events will begin at 8 a.m. and continue into the afternoon, according to the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, which offers information about this and other local events to all those interested.

HENRY TO COMPETE Defending his Western Maryland Championship title this weekend will be Andy Henry, who has not only won this event the past two years, but won the Maryland State Water Skiing Championship three weeks ago in Annapolis. At the state event, Henry took first places in the slalom and jumping events to win the overall championship in the boys' division. This qualified him for the Eastern Regionals, held last weekend in Willingboro, N.J., where he finished eighth in the

Western Maryland Golf Tournament

Set For Weekend

The 20th annual Western Maryland Men's Golf Open Championship will be held this weekend, August 19-21, at the Oakland Country Club. A field of over 100 amateur golfers, mainly from the tri-state area, have already registered to compete in the 54-hole tourney.

Among those registered are defending champion, Ron Witt, Kingwood, W.Va., who set a tournament record last year with a two-under-par finish. Jack Forbes, Morgantown, a five-time winner of the event, will also be among the com-

The top 60 percent of the field after Friday's and Saturday's rounds will move into the final 18-hole round on Sunday.

Spectators are welcome to attend the tournament, free of charge. Tee-off Friday will be between 8 and 9 a.m.

Persons interested in participating in the tournament who have not yet registered or desire more information may contact Jim Kreyenbuhl, Oakland Country Club professional, at

Various Charges Heard Recently

In District Court

A number of cases were heard in Garrett County District Court by Judge Jack Turney, resulting in fines, jail sentences, and restitution for offenders

A Corinth, W.Va., man, Allen Dale Ashby, 33, was fined $25, sentenced to 30 days, which were suspended, and placed on six-months probation for disturbing the peace, which included drinking, using profane language, and refusing to obey a police officer's order.

Fratz Red and White Super Market placed charges of theft against Edward Thomas Perry, 33, Accident, after he left the store with two packs of cigarettes he did not pay for. He was fined $50 plus court costs, ordered to serve six-months jail time, which was suspended, and placed on 12-months probation. He was also ordered to make restitution to the store.

Albert Cecil DeWitt, 33, Mt. Lake Park, was fined $50, sentenced to six-months in the county jail, which was suspended, and placed on unsupervised probation for assault against Ronnie Bell of Oakland.

Russell Leroy Welch, Oakland, was fined $25, sentenced suspended, and placed on sixmonths unsupervised probation for battery against Patricia Ann Welch, Route 5, Oakland, The charges were the result of a domestic dispute.

He was ordered to retrain from ing. contact with Bell. A countersuit filed by DeWitt against Bell resulted in a $50 fine for trespassing and battery stemming from arguments involving DeWitt's

An Oakland man was fined $50, ordered to serve 30 days in the county jail, and placed on 12-months supervised probation following his release for disturbing the peace, yelling, cursing, and threatening the

Andrew Charles Snyder, Route 5, was charged on June 18 in the incident. On July 11, the defendent appeared in the office of Circuit Court Judge Fred A. Thayer, and demanded to speak with the judge. He was armed with a knife at the time, and after the discussion, left voluntarily. According to the records he returned on July 12 to the judge's office, again behaving in a loud and abusive manner, and made threats against Thayer. He was thrown out of the suite, and ordered to Sacred Heart Hospital for mental evaluation. Court records further indicate that the defendant made hostile threats to Court Commissioner Charles Pariseau, other correctional personnel, and refused to sign certain court documents.

In a separate incident, Robert Leonard Glaze, 45, Oakland, was fined $250, ordered to one year with the department of to six months in jail, which was correction, which was suspended, and placed on 12 months supervised probation on a charge of battery against his wife. All but $50 of the fine was suspended, and he was ordered to receive alchoholic counsel-

Mrs. Glaze was found not guilty on a counter suit filed against her by her husband.

A Grantsville man, Clayton S. Archer, 25, was fined $25, ordered to serve one year in jail, which was suspended, and placed on 12-months supervised probation for a charge of malicious destruction placed against him by Eugene Zumpano, also of Grantsville. The incident occurred on July 5 at 2:30 a.m.

According to the complainant. Archer went to a mobile home owned by him, and currently being occupied by Elizabeth Winebrenner, and became involved in a domestic dispute with the woman. In the course of events, two windows were broken in the door of the mobile home. Archer was also ordered to make restitution to Zumpano in the amount of $280. He was ordered to have no further contact with Wine-

Two Thefts Now Under Investigation

Two incidents involving thefts have been placed in the active investigation file at the Garrett County sheriff's department this week

According to a report by Deputy D.W. Tucker, a cabin in the Cheek's Lane vicinity was broken into between July 4 and August 10 and several items stolen. The property is owned by Roy E. Clark, Forest Hills,

Windows were broken in two backhoes owned by the Matting-Construction Company of Cumberland and parked adjacent to their worksite along Glendale Road August 16. According to Deputy Russell Drenning, the damage amounted to $200

At the same time, unknown persons removed several portable caution stands with flashing lights from along the roadway. Loss value for these has not yet been determined. The lights were rented by Mattingly's firm.

House Arrested

A local man is being held in the Garrett County jail in lieu of $2,500 full bond on charges he violated his probation, according to a report from the Garrett County sheriff's office.

Kenneth House was arrested in Belmont, County, Ohio, August 15 by Assistant Chief Deputy Harland Tichnell. A warrant for burglary has also been issued against House.

Misinformation On Social Security

Being Circulated

There has been some inaccurate information about Social Security circulating in the area according to Joseph E. Mieczkowski, Social Security district manager in Cumberland. "A number of people have called our office recently to ask if their Social Security checks would be $90.00 a month less if they wait until 1984 to retire," said Mieczkowski.

Mieczkowski went on to explain that this is not correct. The Social Security benefit for anyone currently eligible to retire would not be lower if they waited to retire a year later. If anything, the monthly payment would be higher for a number of reasons, including additional Social Security taxes paid, delayed retirement credits, and cost of living in-

Anyone over age 62 or who will be 62 within the next year may contact the Cumberland office for additional information and a benefit estimate. The Cumberland office is located at the County Club Mall and the telephone number is (301) 729-3232.
